U.S. To Start Withdrawing Units in Korea, Ike Reveals

Indochina Is Cut in Attack By Vietminh

Red-Led Forces Take Thailand Border Town As French Withdraw

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The vanguard of Communist-led Vietminh forces moved today into the abandoned town of Thakhek, on the Mekong River border with Thailland, completing a rebel drive to cut Indochina in two.

First reports from the area said the Vietminh units that drove boldly across the country from the coastal areas of Annam sent light elements into Thakhek, previously evacuated by the French.

Evacuation Ordered

The withdrawal of the French had been announced earlier today in a communique from the high command. It said the evacuation was ordered to pull as many troops as possible together in order to meet the Vietminh attack.

Vietminh occupation of the town, 240 miles south of Hanoi, would give the rebels a base from which to strike either north or south along the Mekong River. The Vietminh began their lightning thrust across the country four days ago.

The invasion of Laos from Annam followed repeated offers from Vietminh Chief Ho Chi Minh for a negotiated peace in the seven-year-old Indochina war. The French attitude toward the Vietminh proposals is that they have not been officially communicated and that consequently they will be ignored.

Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander in Indochina, is expected to set up his main defense line along the Mekong south of Thakhek in order to defend Savannakhet, a provincial capital 80 miles to the south.

Must Keep Savannakhet

The French must keep Savannakhet and its airport, the only air base in Laos capable of handling heavy transport planes, in order to bring in troops and war supplies to the defenders of the area.

(Reports reaching the Thailand capital of Bangkok said Vietminh troops have occupied Thakhek. They said fires were seen in the town as two strange, white planes—not French—flew overhead.)

(A dispatch from the Thailand capital of Bangkok reported the government has declared a state of emergency in nine northern and northeastern states adjoining Indochina and Burma as a result of the Vietminh offensive.

(The dispatch said the declaration was issued after a conference of Cabinet members and high military officers decided the Indochinese situation constituted a threat to Thailand's sovereignty. Thakhek is just across the river from the Thailand town of Lakhon.

French Fall Back

(Reports in the Thailand capital said French forces opposing the rebel drive were falling back to new defenses set up about 50 kilometers (31.5 miles) from Thakhek.)

The French spokesman said elements of two Vietminh divisions have been identified as taking part in the drive into Laos, one of the three French-associated states of Indochina. The rebel troops, he said, were carrying only light arms and few supplies, apparently to

Return of 2 Divisions Due As Initial Step

President Says Need For Ground Strength Not So Pressing Now

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today ordered a progressive reduction of U.S. ground forces in Korea and announced that Army divisions will be returned to this country soon "as an initial step"

In a statement issued at his vacation headquarters here, Eisenhower declared:

"The fighting in Korea was ended by an armistice which has now been in effect five months. We do not need as much ground strength there now as when there was fighting. That is the more true because of the capabilities of the Republic of Korea forces which were substantially built up during the war.

"Also our growing national air power poses greater mobility and greater striking force than ever before

"Accordingly I have directed that the United States ground forces in Korea be progressively reduced as circumstances warrant. As an initial step, two Army divisions will soon be withdrawn and returned to the United States."

An Eisenhower aide who asked not to be named estimated there are upwards of 32,000 men in the two divisions, which were not identified.

Worldwide Disasters

362 Dead Counted In 4 Train Wrecks

By The Associated Press

Four countries around the world counted a death toll of possibly 362 persons today as a result of Christmastide train wrecks.

Two of the rail disasters—in New Zealand and Czechoslovakia—were among the worst in history. The other accidents were reported from Peru and Pakistan.

In New Zealand, an estimated 166 lives were lost when a speeding Wellington-Auckland passenger train plunged into a river gorge Thursday night after a bridge had washed out 250 miles south of the capital. The catastrophe cast gloom over the little country at the time it was entertaining Queen Elizabeth on her commonwealth tour.

Passenger Trains Collide

The Bratislav-Prague express in Czechoslovakia smashed into another passenger train near Sakvice, killing from 100 to 186 persons according to unofficial piecemeal reports from the Iron Curtain country. The wreck, also on Christmas Eve, may have been the third worst train crash in history.

A heavily loaded ore train jumped the tracks on an Andes Mountain grade 12 miles from Lima, Peru, and six crewmen were killed. The seventh man aboard the train was seriously injured.

Another freight train derailment in Pakistan took the lives of four crewmen. This accident occurred yesterday about 30 miles from Quetta in the western part of the country.

Queen Expresses Sympathy

In Auckland, Queen Elizabeth, broadcasting her annual Yuletide message to nations of the commonwealth around the world, paused to express her sympathy to the families of the New Zealand wreck victims. The young monarch's voice wavered as she spoke of the grave disaster.

New Zealand Prime Minister Sydney Holland rushed to the scene of the accident on Mt. Ruapehu as soon as he was notified early yesterday. Internal Affairs Minister W. A. Bodkin was appointed minister in attendance to the Queen, and it was announced that the schedule of her royal tour would not be altered.

The engine and five cars of the train, which was traveling about 50 miles an hour, shot into the swollen Wangaehu River shortly after floods had swept away a section of the railway bridge. Another car tottered on the brink a few moments and then toppled into the flood.

135 Not Found

A rescue organization was set up within a few minutes but 135 of the 267 persons on the train were still unaccounted for and there was little hope they would be found. The known dead numbered 31.

The government-controlled press in Communist Czechoslovakia released little news of the accident in that country, and Western newsmen do not operate there. An early announcement over Radio Prague said only that "many persons were killed or injured."

Girl Recovers From Serious Burns of Body

Little 10-year-old Irene Brush, who was burned seriously in a fire in her home Thursday, is expected to recover.

Attendants at Children's Hospital in Columbus where she was taken for treatment, reported her condition today as "satisfactory," and said that doctors attending her believe she will recover but that it will be long and slow process.

In the fire which destroyed the small house-trailer in which she and her mother, Mrs. Juanita Robinson, were residing Irene was burned over 37 per cent of her body. Burned on both arms, her face, half of the front and back of her body, feet and legs and on the knees, 25 per cent were third degree burns, 10 per cent second degree burns, and two per cent first degree burns.

The family's wooden trailer was located on the northeast corner of Barks Rd. and Cheney Ave., near the Osgood Co. plant.

The Salvation Army was notified of the incident and plans to check into the case and see if any help is needed by the family.

The Marion Shrine Club's Crippled Children Committee today is attempting to contact Mrs. Robinson.

B. R. Prichard, committee chairman, said the club offers assistance in the treatment and care of crippled children and is anxious to offer financial assistance for the care of Irene, if it is desired and needed by Mrs. Robinsin.

He said that Dr. Judson Wilson of Columbus offers free treatment at Children's Hospital to children recommended by the Shrine Club while the club itself pays hospitalization expenses.

Prichard was unable to contact Mrs. Robinson today. She is reported to be in Columbus to be near Irene if needed. Irene was removed to Children's Hospital late Thursday after being treated at Marion City Hospital.

Soviet Rejects Jan. 4 Meeting For Big Four

Note Asks Sessions Be Postponed; Allies Announce No Plans

MOSCOW (AP)—Informed Western sources reported today the Soviet Union has rejected the proposed Jan. 4 date for a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Berlin and proposed instead Jan. 25 or later.

Western diplomatic sources said the Soviets stated there were "administrative difficulties" in the way of the Jan. 4 date proposed by the West on Dec. 8.

The Soviet counterproposal was given in notes delivered to the U. S., British and French ambassadors in Moscow at noon. The notes were reported very brief. They have not yet been officially published.

Object Also to Site

The sources added the Soviets also appeared to object to the Western proposal that the Berlin conference be held in the former Allied control authority building, in the American sector of the divided city.

It was reported the Russians proposed instead the four high commissioners in Germany confer in advance on an alternative site.

The Soviets, however, are still willing to meet in Berlin, which was originally their suggestion. They had previously agreed to the idea of a Four-Power conference but did not specify a date.

Short Notice

The Soviet note, coming only today, gives the West short notice for altering the Jan. 4 plan. It was believed here the delay in the Russian reply might have been caused by uncertainty over the recent prolonged French presidential election.

In their last note the Western powers suggested the questions of Germany and Austria be discussed at the parley but let the way open for the Soviets to bring up any other questions.

The Russians want a Big Five meeting with Red China taking part.

Would Limit Topics

Western spokesmen have made it clear publicly they would like to limit the proposed conference to consideration of the long-delayed German and Austrian treaty settlements.

Allied sources have stressed the West has no intention of changing its known position on the central issue of German reunification: that free nationwide elections must come before formation of an all-German government. Russia has demanded just the opposite: an all-German government and then elections.

The Western notes of Dec. 8 were drawn up at the Big Three conference in Bermuda earlier this month.

Stampede Kills 23 at Mexican Church Service

3,000 Rush for Doors When Lights Go Out At Mass on Christmas

TOLUCA, Mexico (AP)—The little Mexican village of Temoaya mourned today for 23 friends and neighbors killed in a panicky stampede after a Christmas Mass in the local church. Some 200 other worshipers were injured in the rush for the doors.

The tragedy was touched off by a failure of the church's electric lights. Many of the 3,000 faithful jammed in for the midnight Mass early yesterday were country people unused to electric lights.

The parish priest, the Rev. Jose Cruz, said he tried vainly to quell the panic-stricken crowd pushing toward the churches' two doors.

"Mass was just finished," he said, "and the congregation was leaving the church. Somebody stepped on a wire laying on the floor. There was a blue flash and the lights went out. They rushed for the doors.

"The loudspeaker system has its own batteries and was still turned on. I told them there was no danger

Heart Attack Fells Director Of Agriculture

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Graying, bespectacled Howard S. Foust, first man to hold the positions of state agriculture director and state fair manager, will be buried in Plain City, his birthplace, Monday.

Funeral services will be held in the Plain City Presbyterian Church at 2 p. m. Internment will be at Forest Grove Cemetery.

Suffers Heart Attack

Foust died yesterday at 61. He had suffered a heart attack Tuesday as he returned to his 100-acre farm outside Plain City from Columbus.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who appointed him to agriculture directorship said:

"To replace him will be a difficult task." Lausche said Foust was "a great help to me as the director of agriculture. Without fanfare or glamor, but in the constant hard-working way of a farmer, he efficiently performed his duties in behalf of the public."

Farmed in Union County

Foust, who carried his six-foot frame erectly, learned about farming as a boy, working with his father, James Foust, a prominent livestock dealer. In the early 1900s he used to accompany his father to nearby farms to choose cattle, sheep and swine for resale.

Later he owned farms in Franklin, Union and Champaign counties as well as the one near Plain City. He was known as a man who spoke

Red Neutrals Blast Decision To Stop Talks

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The two Communist members of the Korean repatriation commission have accused the other three members of a "very serious violation" of "international agreements" in ending efforts to win prisoners home, the official Peiping radio said today.

The charge was in a statement issued by the Czech and Polish members which was broadcast by the Chinese Red radio.

The Red delegates were angered by the majority decision of India, Sweden and Switzerland to end the 90-day explanation period at midnight last Wednesday.

The Czechs and Poles termed the decision "an arbitrary interpretation" of the armistice agreement.

The Communists have insisted that there should be 90 days of actual explanations. They had talked with anti-Red Chinese and North Koreans only nine days during the period which began in September, and accused the Allies

255 Killed in U.S.

Holiday Death Toll Headed for Record

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents continued to reach toward a new record death toll today as the halfway point was reached in the Christmas weekend.

The list showed 255 deaths in traffic mishaps, exactly half the number predicted by the National Safety Council for the full 78-hour period. The new count was taken after 39 hours had elapsed from 6 p. m. Thursday, Christmas Eve.

In addition 36 persons had died as a result of injuries suffered in fires and 26 others had lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents, making a total of 317 deaths from all accidents.

Commenting on the swiftly rising highway toll, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council said:

"Unless motorists put on the brakes, it's going to be the most tragic Christmas in history for traffic accidents."

Pleasant Weather

Fairly pleasant winter weather prevailed over most of the country yesterday and millions of motorists headed for the highways. Icy streets in some sections of the Midwest, Rocky Mountain region and the Northeast made driving conditions hazardous, resulting in hundreds of accidents.

Traffic deaths this year have averaged about 102 every 24 hours. In a recent sample pre-holiday survey for a 78-hour weekend period, there were 310 traffic deaths—200 under the council's estimate for this weekend.

Of the deaths attributed to fires, none resulted from Christmas tree blazes. Several of the fire victims were children. A young mother and her three sons and daughter perished in a fire which destroyed their farm home near Flat Rock, Mich. Three young boys perished when fire trapped them in their bedroom in a four-family tenement in Gloucester, Mass.

Death Tally by States

The deaths by states, traffic, fire and miscellaneous:

Alabama 3 0 0; Arizona 2 0 0; Arkansas 1 0 0; California 24 0 2; Colrado 1 0 0; Connecticut 4 0 0; Delaware 2 0 0; Florida 5 0 7; Georiga 9 0 0; Illinois 12 1 1; Indiana 5 0 2; Iowa 6 0 0; Kentucky 12 6 1; Louisiana 1 0 1; Maryland 7 4 1; Massachusetts 4 7 0; Michicagn 12 5 0; Minnesota 4 0 0; Mississippi 0 3 0; Missouri 13 0 0; Montana 1 0 0;

Ohio Accidents Over Holiday Leave 17 Dead

By The Associated Press

Ohio's Christmas holiday weekend death toll continued to mount today, ranking the state third nationally in total number of fatalities.

Only California and New York had more than Ohio's 17 dead from traffic accidents, fires and miscellaneous causes. The Associated Press tabulation runs from 6 p. m. Thursday until midnight tomorrow.

13 Dead in Traffic

Ohio counted 13 dead in traffic mishaps, 2 in fires and 2 in accidents involving trains.

A spokesman for the State Highway Patrol predicted at least 24 persons would be killed on state highways before Sunday midnight, with the greatest number of accidents occurring between noon and midnight tomorrow.

Clear highways throughout the state served as an inducement for careless drivers to raise speeds beyond legal limits. The patrol spokesman said one of every three fatal accidents involved excessive speeds.

The Ohio figure included two multiple death accidents, one of which took three lives in Darke County. It was the second multiple tragedy for the county in 24 hours.

3 Killed Near Greenville

Yesterday a head-on crash near Greenville took the lives of a Castine man and his wife and a 19-year-old Versailles youth. Thursday afternoon a Versailles mother, her son and daughter were killed when a passenger train struck their car at Versailles.

Deaths Christmas Eve:

William F. Parker, 31, Centerburg, car crashed on U.S. 62 near New Albany.

Ralph J. Tyree, 30, one-car accident on Ohio 101 near Clyde.

Edmund Kidder, 38, Rt. 2, Cozaddle, car crashed on a county road near Batavia.

Eisenhower Drafts Talks To Congress, Plans Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, refreshed by a merry Christmas with his family, turns today to work on a sheaf of January messages to Congress and he may squeeze in a round of golf.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived by plane from Washington yesterday afternoon after a brief stopover at Ft. Benning, Ga., to pick up their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, his wife Barbara, and the three young Eisenhower grandchildren.

They and Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, assembled around the Christmas tree last night at the Little White House at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The President was in a happy mood and the first lady asked him to tell newsmen what he had told her Christmas morning before leaving Washington.

"I said," Eisenhower laughed, "that I was not going to be mad at anyone today. I was so happy to get away."

The President remarked that the last month has been a particularly grueling one for him. In it were crowded such events as the Bermuda Big Three conference, his atomic pool speech to the United Nations, and a series of conferences with Republican congressional leaders on the administration's 1954 legislative program.

Lee Shubert Dies at 78; Built Theatrical Empire

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee Shubert, 78, a magic name on Broadway and a powerful personality throughout the theatrical world, died yesterday after a brief illness.

Shubert, president of the Shubert Theatrical Enterprises, entered Mt. Sinai Hospital just four days ago for treatment of a circulatory disturbance.

One of Three Brothers

The hospital attributed his death to "the complete failure of the circulatory system."

Lee was one of three brothers —Sam S., who died in 1905, and Jacob J., who survives—who parlayed an obscure booking business into a theatrical empire once estimated to be worth 400 million dollars.

The three brothers made the theatrical world their life, even as young men in Syracuse, N.Y.

Build Own Theaters

When they invaded the Broadway scene they were confronted by the all-powerful Klaw and Erlanger booking agency, known as "The Combination."

Throwing their energy and astuteness into a fight for survival, the Shubert brothers eventually smashed the combine and themselves became the top theatrical power in the business.

Watch Night Programs

New Year's Eve Church Services Planned in City

In anticipation of the possibilities of the coming 12 months in their churches, Marion pastors have prepared New Year's sermons for services Sunday. Plans have been made by some congregations for administration of the communion, and one church will include rites of baptism at the morning service. Others will have annual election or installation of officers or annual congregational planning meeting. Students at home on vacation will be given a special welcome.

On New Year's Eve, many churches will emphasize the importance of starting the year on a religious note by holding Watch Night services together with congregational fellowship preceding.

AN UPPER ROOM Night Watch and communion observance will be held by Epworth Methodist Church at "Our House," youth center beginning at 9 p.m. Thursday. From 11 o'clock until 12, the New Year's Eve Watch Night service will be broadcast on the radio over Station WMRN. The sermon will be "What Time Is It?" The Upper Room service will be continued from midnight to 3 a.m. for any who wish to come during the first hours of the new year.

Union Watch Night service has been arranged for Calvary and Oakland EUB Churches for 11 p.m. Thursday at the Oakland Church's Parish House. There will be a youth program, refreshments, and closing devotional period in charge of the Youth Fellowship.

Following a period of fellowship at First Evangelical and Reformed Church Thursday, beginning at 9 o'clock, a Watch Night service will be held in the sanctuary. During the opening social hour colored slide pictured on events of the year, including confirmation, confirmation reunion, Women's Guild convention, Guild pageant, Vacation Church School, children's operetta, and the Marion County Fair will be shown. Refreshments will be in charge of the Junior Youth Fellowship.

On New Year's Day, the pastor, Rev. J. Paul Goebel, and family will hold open house at the parsonage from 3 p.m. until 5 and 7 until 9 for members and friends of the congregation.

PLANS FOR THE Watch Night Service at Trinity Baptist Church have been worked out to include a wide variety of activity and participation by every age group in the church. The program will begin at 7:30 and continue until midnight when a consecration service in the form of candlelight communion will be observed. The last hour before midnight will be in charge of the older young people of the church with Rev. Marvin Crabtree of Morral presiding at the observance of the Lord's Supper. Various groups in the church, including the men, the Woman's Society, the Church School, the deacons and the young people will share in the program, a part of which will be entertainment, an educational film, singing, prayers and inspirational features. The Wednesday night midweek service will be combined with the Watch-night service on Thursday night.

From 9 o'clock until 11:30, Wesley Methodist Church will have a New Year's Eve party, then at 11:30 a Watchservice until 12:02 a.m. to "provide worshipers an opportunity to welcome the new year with good resolutions and prayer."

NEW YEAR'S EVE at Central Christian Church will be observed with games and a social hour beginning at 9:30. Refreshments will be served. The public worship service will begin at 11:30.

Greenwood EUB Church has planned a varied program for New Year's Eve beginning at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. There will be recreation at the Parish House followed by a closing candlelight service of communion at the church.

Beginning at 10:30, there will be a Watch Night service Thursday at Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church with a special program.

MOVING PICTURES made by Rev. Billy Graham, "Mystery of Bethlehem" and "New Year's Picture" will be shown at the Fite Memorial Baptist Watch Night service Thursday from 8 o'clock until 12. There will be special music by the young people, refreshments will be served, and a candlelight communion service will be held at 11:30.

On Thursday at Emmanuel Baptist Church at 9:30 p.m. there will be a Watch Night service, which will conclude immediately after the new year begins. Vern Kirby, student at Cedarville Baptist College, will be the speaker. The young people of the church will participate. The Lord's Table will be observed at the midnight hour, by candlelight.

Phases of the Watch Nigh service of the Maranatha Bible Church on Thursday night, beginning at 10 o'clock, will be a "singspiration," Bible quiz, special music, consecration service, communion, and testimonies. This public service will conclude at midnight.

The Ninety And Nine

A preacher and a singer take a train ride

Two tired men hurried through the railroad station at Glasgow, Scotland. One of them paused, bought a newspaper and stuffed it into his pocket. On the train they took seats facing each other. One of the men was Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist of the time. The other was Ira D. Sankey, who sang to his own accompaniment, and if not the greatest gospel singer of the past century, certainly one of the greatest. The pair had just closed an extended revival in Glasgow and were on their way to Edinburg for a belated engagement.

Moody waded into a bundle of unopened letters from his home in Chicago. It was 1874. His church had been destroyed three years earlier in the great fire and he was anxious about progress on his new tabernacle. Sankey scanned his newspaper, was about to toss it aside when he noticed a poem written by a little orphaned Scotch girl named Elizabeth Clephane. He read the lines over and over—tore the poem out and put it into his pocket.

In Edinburgh Moody preached on the subject, "The Good Shepherd." Came time for Sankey's solo. He had not expected the sermon and had no appropriate number. Then he thought of the poem. He put it on the music rack. His hand hit the keys. He started singing.

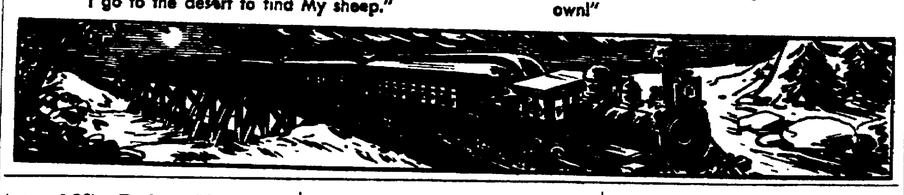
This is, perhaps, the only case in the history of hymn making where a tune was composed, note for note just as it stands today, while the composer sang it for the first time.

There were ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold,
But one was out on the hills away,
Far off from the gates of gold.
Away on the mountain wild and bare,
Away from the tender Shepherd's care.

"Lord, Thou hast here Thy ninety and nine;
Are they not enough for Thee?"
But the Shepherd made answer "This of mine
Has wandered away from Me;
And although the road is rough and steep,
I go to the desert to find My sheep."

But none of the ransomed ever knew
How deep were the waters crossed;
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord passed thro'
Ere He found His sheep that was lost.
Out in the desert He heard its cry—
Sick and helpless, and ready to die.

But all through the mountains, thunder riven,
And up from the rocky steep
There arose a glad cry at the gate of heaven
"Rejoice! I have found My sheep!"
And the angels echoed around the throne,
"Rejoice, for the Lord brings back His own!"



Emmanuel Baptist

At the evening service of Emmanuel Baptist Church certificates for the Scripture Truth Course of the Moody Bible Institute Extension Correspondence School will be presented each one who has completed the course. It was taught during the year by Rev. C. E. Hershey. A group if 22 will receive diplomas. This is the second time this particular course was given. At the present time Rev. Hershey is teaching a course entitled, "Romans, the Epistle of Grace," by Charles J. Woodbridge. This is also a correspondence course from the Moody Institute.

Prospect St. Methodist

Filling the pulpit of Prospect Street Methodist Church Sunday morning will be Robert F. Williams of Marion. A Church School and Bible teacher at Epworth Methodist Church, he was named recently to participate in a denominational Visitation Evangelism program in Alaska in February. He has been aon active lay member of the church many years and is known in Marion for his hobby of study and drawings of religious symbols on which he gives lectures at meetings of various organizations in the area. The pastor, Rev. E. E. Shoup, is on vacation.

There will be special music by the choir.

Recreation at the beginning of the young people's program at 5 p.m. will be led by Mary Ann Bechtle and Gwen Erwin. A "snack supper" will be served at 6, and at 6:30 the Intermediate Fellowship will discuss the topic, "Is the Church in Danger" directed by Carolyn Moon. The Senior Fellowship topic will be "Our New Year's Resolutions." There will be no Junior Choir rehearsal. On Monday night, the Crusaders Class will meet.

Emanuel Lutheran

The Baptism of children will take place at the service at Emanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday morning.

Epworth Methodist

Student Recognition Day will be observed by Epworth Methodist Church Sunday morning. The anthem will be "All Were There," Lynn. From 5:30 p.m. to 10:30, open house will be held at "Our House," youth center, and the open house feature will be observed each day through Jan. 4 from 2 p.m. until 10. On Wednesday, there will be a Christmas brunch for older young people, college students and those in service at home on visits, and adults who are interested. Reservations will be in charge of Miss Margaret Huffman or Mrs. L. W. Pfeiffer at 2-8281.

On Sunday at 5:30 p.m. for Intermediate Fellowship the theme will be "The Christmas Season in One of Our Neighboring Churches" with Jan Taylor in charge. During the week, the Williams Class will meet Monday night and Thursday at 9 p.m. the Watch Night communion service will begin at "Our House" followed by devotions at the church. There will be no choir rehearsal Wednesday night.

Trinity Baptist

A congregational meeting of the Trinity Baptist Church will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. for an open forum discussion of plans for an expansion of present church facilities. A questionnaire has been mailed to all the church families for study and a poll of opinion in preparation for the Sunday night meeting. In addition to proposals for enlargement of the present plant, the discussion will include participation in the current program of the American Baptist Convention to raise $8,350,000 for the establishing of 300 new churches in the convention territory during the next two years.

Salem E and R

Observance of communion will be held at Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church Sunday morning.

Wesley Methodist

Students at home for the holiday will be given a special welcome at Wesley Methodist Sunday morning when Student Recognition Day is observed in line with a denominational emphasis for the Sunday following Christmas. The sermon will be intended to appeal to young people and "show how a person can be both intellectual and spiritual." Attendance at the church services will continue to be registered on the next two Sundays, with reminders sent to those who have been absent. A new electric duplicator has been purchased for the church office as a result of a project of the Young People's Sunday School Class taught by Mrs. Lester Hines. On Thursday night, a New Year's Eve party for the entire congregation will be held, beginning at 9 o'clock.

First Presbyterian

Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed Sunday morning at First Presbyterian Church.

Plans are being made for baptism of infants on the following Sunday.

Church of the Brethren

The monthly church board meeting of the Church of the Brethren will be held at the home of Mrs. Grace Blessing, 484 E. Center St., at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Calvary EUB

Calvary EUB Church will have a service of communion Sunday at morning worship hour. Special music will be a solo by Miss Marilyn Creasap. There will be a union Watch Night service Thursday with the Youth Fellowship of Oakland EUB Church at 10 o'clock. On Christmas Sunday afternoon the pastor, Rev. Clyde Wendell, baptized four children.

Annual election of consistory members will be held at First Evangelical and Reformed Church Sunday following morning worship. On Tuesday afternoon the Children's Division Christmas party will be held, and on Wednesday night, the Alpha Class will hold the annual Christmas party and gift exchange. There will be a Watch Night service Thursday beginning at 9 o'clock and on New Year's Day open house will be held at the parsonage.

Christian Science

"Christian Science" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem. The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations" (Isaiah 52: 9, 10;.

Church of Christ

A former minister of the Church of Christ at Main and Farming Sts., John W. Rockhold of Chillicothe, will speak at both morning and evening services in the church here Sunday, in the absence of Oliver Johnson, the present minister. At 2:30 p.m. he will officiate at a wedding ceremony at the church.

Fite Memorial

For Youth Fellowship Sunday night at Fite Memorial Baptist Church the topic will be "A Ballot a Day." The Watch Night service is set for 8 p.m. Thursday.

Applications for Food Licenses To Be Taken

Applications for food service licenses will be issued only on Monday and Tuesday, the city board of health reported today.

Dr. John T. Gruber, inspector, said all establishments in the city which serve foods, such as hotels, the hospital, fraternal organizations, taverns, restaurants, corporations etc., must obtain a license effective Jan. 1.

Licenses will be $25 a year and will be issued only if the applicant meets with sanitary rules and his place of business passes a sanitation inspection by the board of health, he said.

The applications will be issued at the board of health offices on the second floor of city hall on W. Center St.

TOP CRAWFORD PRODUCTION

BUCYRUS—Dairy herds owned by the Harrer Brothers of New Washington and C. R. Sours of Mt. Zion were the outstanding milk and butterfat producers in Crawford County last month, members of the county dairy board reported here today. The Harrer herd placed first in both milk and butterfat production, with production being 1,282 pounds per cow and 47.7 pounds of butterfat. The Sours herd was second with 1,229 pounds of milk and 41.4 pounds of butterfat.

I Press On

A Sermonette

By REV. L. HARRISON LUDWIG
Pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church

I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus. — Philippians 3:14.

The Christian is a person who has set a goal ahead of himself and is using every energy to press on to that goal. He is one who has been changed from one way of living to another and his goal is in accord with this new way of life. No better example of this can be found anywhere than in the Apostle Paul. When he became a Christian he regarded everything else as loss so that he might know Christ. Everything that was the old Paul was laid aside—it was counted as loss.

Paul was not content with himself as a Christian. He had thrown aside many things but he had high ideals. He said that any man in Christ Jesus is a new creation. This new creation made a person over from the very beginning. His whole nature was made new. His whole life was changed. That was the spirit of God in the life of the person.

HE KNEW THAT his own life was constantly being made new. What did he mean by some of the things he said? I die daily? I am crucified with Christ? The things that I would not that I do and the things that I would do these I leave undone? What do they mean? Paul was in the same kind of a situation that all of us are. I have set before me a new life in Christ. This had made Christ the supreme desire of my life. I am a new creation in Christ. But the old nature insists on coming back to life and in taking full possession of my life. I gave my life to Christ but the old nature is constantly trying to push aside this good and take hold of me once more.

This old nature with all of its old and ugly desires must be crucified—must die—every day. The Epistle to the Hebrews speaks of the "sin which clings so closely." A few years ago I heard a woman who was once a missionary to India. As she referred to this sentence she said: "The sin that dogs your tracks." And then she referred to the dogs in the East. They follow right at your heels all through town and will not be shaken off. And they will follow you for miles out in the country. Paul knew about the sins that dogged his tracks. He had to crucify them — die daily to them.

HE WAS NEVER satisfied with his attainments. He felt that he had never attained anything like complete consecration to God that he found in Christ Jesus. He wanted to realize the fellowship of the sufferings of Christ. He wanted to realize full communion with God as he found it in Christ. He wanted to know the power of the resurrection of Christ. All of these were still far beyond him. And he wanted to attain to them. He was constantly pressing on toward those goals.

Religion is something that affects all of my living. We sometimes live as if it were confined to the Church of Christ and its worship. Paul did his share of worship — he spent much time in communion with God. Paul tried to live as a Christian. He spoke of being a Christian—of the meaning of the Christian life — and then he went among those people and lived like a Christian. That is the test of our profession of Christ — and that is where it breaks down so often. It is so hard to take our profession of faith in Christ and take it out into the world and let it make us live as new creations. The sins that dog our tracks will go with us in the world and will mold our thinking and our acting. Paul insisted that the faith in Christ, love of God, love of neighbor — these should take hold of us ,make us new creations and make us live in this world as new creations. He was constantly pressing on to this goal.

THIS IS THE TIME of the year when we are inclined to look back and take inventory of what we have done and left undone. Many of us may very justly be proud of our achievements during the past year. We may have scored some degree of success. Others may feel very humble and insufficient as we look back over the year that has gone. We set out with a great program, with high ideals, with noble resolves. This year we were going to press on as we had never done before. And we tried—God knows how hard we tried. But somehow we have not succeeded. We have not reached the goals that we set for ourselves and have certainly fallen far short of the goal which has been set for us by Christ — fellowship with Him and with His people, love and concern for all of the people of the world, "the power of His resurrection." But these goals are not for a day or for a year but for all of life and for eternity. We can still "press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus."

Each new day beckons us on. It is a great opportunity to "press on." Whether it is at the beginning of a new year or the beginning of a new day we must "press on." The simple fact is that if we do not "press on" day by day we will not be doing it at all. Great goals are not attained at a single bound. They are attained by the day by day striving and pressing on toward a goal that is clearly defined and that is worth the effort and the life and soul of the individual. In other words, I must give myself wholly to a cause that is worthy of a human soul. Paul did that. He got hold of the new life in Christ Jesus. He set out to achieve it in all of its fullness and power. That was the "prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." That is the only goal that is worthy of any man or woman on this earth. We must press on toward that goal.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A Formula for Exciting Living

"There'll be a hot time in the old town next Thursday night," I heard a passerby say. I expect there'll be a big time in most towns, because it will be New Year's Eve and many people throughout the world will be turning to noise, to confetti and to artificial stimulation of alcohol to find excitement for that one night.

DR. PEALE

There is a way of life, however, that needs no horns, no confetti, no liquor, to provide excitement all year round. An old friend of mine who died in the year that is passing always impressed me by the excitement and delight he seemed to find in living. Even in his late 70's, everything seemed to thrill him. And I remember well the last time I saw this man, Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire.

—:—

HIS EXCITEMENT with life was so apparent that I asked him, "Senator, how is it that you're always so excited about everything?"

"Well," he said, "I think it is because the Lord has given me a perennial interest in people and things and events. Why, I can hardly wait to get up in the morning to see what is going on."

He went on then to talk about his education. He had never gone to college, but as a lad once heard a great speaker say: "Boys, I will tell you how to get an education without ever going to college. Every day have a conversation with someone who knows more than you do."

I interrupted him to ask, "Are you having that conversation now?"

"Oh, no, I had that conversation much earlier today," he said with a twinkle in his eye.

SENATOR TOBEY, throughout his long and valuable life, was vital and alive. He had a sense of humor; he developed a keen appreciation and interest in a variety of activities; he was filled with zest; he was able to find romance in almost everything. Life was exciting because he was filled with a God-given inner joy and appreciation.

You can find this excitement for yourself. It will rise in your heart and in your mind when pressures are thrown off, when burdens are lightly carried. You will have an astonishing sense of thrill as you serve God and people. You can acquire a habit of dynamic serenity which will give you peace in the heart, vigor in the mind and power in the entire personality. It makes no difference how far along in life you are.

I met a man the other day who, at 90, has a spring in his walk and a song in his heart. I asked him how he did it. His answer was short and simple, "God walks with me every day." That is the formula for wonderful, thrilling, exciting living.

MAKE THIS coming year one in which you plan to get more out of life, more of everything. The Bible says, "I am come that they might have life, and they might have it more abundantly." All of us want to live and get all we can out of life. There is a laboratory of life in which we can learn how to do this. You will find it in your church, in your place of worship. There the atmosphere is vibrant with the power of faith; let it make its way into your life.

With that faith strong within your heart you will have found your formula for exciting living. You will live with the joyous conviction that it is a good thing to be alive because God is watching over you, ever generating power and vitality within you. What more exciting way can there be to start a New Year?

Newspaper, Union Reach Agreement

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Truck drivers of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune were to return to work today, permitting the newspapers to resume deliveries halted during a six-day strike of the AFL Teamsters' Union.

Both sides Friday accepted terms of a new 26-month contract worked out in negotiation sessions arranged by federal conciliators. The pact's main provision was for a 15-cent hourly pay raise for the approximately 10 drivers.

Ten cents of the raise was retroactive to Nov. 1, 1953. The other five cents takes effect Nov. 1, 1954. Drivers voted to accept the settlement, then immediately removed pickets from the newspapers' loading docks.

USO Chief Protests

Ermine Bathing Suit Gets Terry Moore Into Trouble

U.S. 45th DIVISION, Korea (AP)—Actress Terry Moore said today she has packed away a controversial ermine bathing suit "that makes me look like a little Santa Claus" and will continue her 10-day Korean tour for the USO.

The robust young blonde said she had been ordered home by George Murphy, chairman of the Hollywood Committee for the USO, after four shows in the suit. But she added that now "everything is straightened out."

The last 20 hours have been "awful," said Miss Moore, who sings and plays straight girl to disc jockey Johnny Grant in the USO troupe. Until today she wore the ermine suit.

Grant—Miss Moore called him the "commanding officer" of the troupe—said Murphy ordered the actress home because she wore the ermine against Murphy's instructions.

In Los Angeles, Murphy said:

"It is unfortunate that with so many entertainers making such a fine contribution that one of them should use such a tour as a means of personal publicity. If this is true, it is a great exhibition of bad taste.

"Before she left I made it clear to Miss Moore that she was not to take that bathing suit with her. On three separate occasions she assured me it was not in her luggage."

Both Grant and Miss Moore indignantly denied that the hubbub was a publicity stunt.

But the suit is off—for sure.

"It's caused so much trouble I don't ever want to wear it again," said Miss Moore. "It's not a Bikini at all. It's really very conservative. It makes me look like a little Santa Claus."

Both Grant and Miss Moore said the Army had nothing to do with the order for her to return home, other than to relay Murphy's message.

Miss Moore denied some news reports that she had said the Army ordered her out because the suit was too risque.

"I did not say that," Miss Moore said. "Do they think that in the United States? Please straighten that out. I don't know where they could have got the story like that. The Army has been wonderful to us."

Army officers said the Army had not expressed disapproval of the show. In fact, one said, it was the Army's view that the ermine bathing suit was "just fine for the boys in Korea."

Grant said he had given Miss Moore permission to wear the suit after talking it over with Army chaplains and generals.

U.S. To Retain Trusteeship Over Okinawa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles Wednesday announced the United States will retain its control of Okinawa and all but a small portion of the Ryukyu and Bonin Islands "for the foreseeable future."

Dulles said in a statement that, of the Ryukyu Islands, only the Amami, Oshima group, just south of Japan, has been returned to Japan.

Arrangements relinquishing United States rights to this small group were concluded in Tokyo today under Article 3 of the Japanese peace treaty.

Okinawa, scene of bloody fighting in World War II and now a main United States defense installation in the Pacific, is the major island in the Ryukyu chain. There have been persistent reports in Japan that the United States, under Article 3, might give up its rights to most of the Ryukyus and the Bonins. But in his statement, Dulles said:

"It would be an abdication of responsibility to the common effort of (the) free nations, including Japan, for the United States to adopt any other course than here set out, since the remaining Ryukyuan and other islands specified in Article 3 of the peace treaty constitute an essential link in the strategic defense of the whole Pacific area.

"Accordingly, the United States intends to remain as custodian of these islands for the foreseeable future."

The Day That Christmas Was Perfect

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Once upon a time there was a perfect Christmas.

Everybody in America got exactly the presents he wanted—every man, every woman, every child. And every present was just the right size.

Peace lapped the land in an invisible tide of love. The children behaved. Each mother-in-law felt as welcome as a queen. Papa and mama found nothing to quarrel about.

In Louisville a man gave his wife a canary and when she said the bird would never be able to sing the canary promptly warbled "My Old Kentucky Home." Same thing happened in Dallas, except that canary saluted three times with his wing and boombed in baritone, "The Eyes of Texas are Upon you."

Every mouse got free cheese, every dog a bone, every cat a nip of catnip.

No housewife burned the turkey. Everybody in every family got to the dinner table on time. Everybody ate until he was full, but nobody ate too much. There wasn't an aspirin or sodium bicarbonate bottle opened all day from Maine to California.

Nobody drank more than he should. Well, yes, one fellow did—an old hermit in the Ozarks. But that's the way he wanted to spend Christmas, because he enjoyed hangovers all by himself. As a matter of fact, that was why he had decided to become a hermit years before.

There wasn't a traffic jam anywhere in the nation, and whenever anybody looked for a parking space he found two, and women drivers found three, so they had no trouble parking either. No cars crashed or left the highway and turned over.

Accident cases? There wasn't one. No Christmas tree caught on fire, no child fell and was hurt. Nobody became ill.

No doctor got an emergency call. The drugstores closed early. Business was so dull in the hospitals that the interns spent the day proposing marriage to the nurses, which is just the way most nurses like to have hard-working interns enjoy a rest.

Crime? No crime on this Christmas. The pickpockets picked only at a turkey drumstick. The thieves stole only the day off. The bank robbers and outlaws stayed home and read stories to their children. So did the cops.

The weather was just right. It snowed in the ski resorts and everywhere that a child had received a bright new sled. The sun shone brightly in Miami and Phoenix, and a smog disappeared in California revealing a city promptly identified as Los Angeles. Where the farmers felt the need of rain, clouds gathered in the sky at dusk.

The politicians played the piano instead of politics. The diplomats maintained a diplomatic silence. The word war was uttered or read by no one in all America from dawn to dusk.

Everybody went to bed early, happy and contented, and enjoyed his best sleep in years. Newspapers went to bed early, too, and the editors, rather uneasy at the strange dearth of holiday disasters, let their reporters also go home early—and my, were the reporters' wives surprised at that!

The next morning the average American, opening his paper, found the front page completely lacking in catastrophe for the first time in his memory. There wasn't even a scandal.

"What's in the paper?" asked his wife.

"Nothing," replied the husband.

The average American, groaning inwardly, then began going through his bankbook, figuring how he would ever pay for his Christmas bills. He found he not only had enough to pay them all—there was enough left over to take the wife and kids on a winter vacation.

Then the average American went next door to call on his neighbor, and found the neighbor planning a vacation, too.

"Have a nice holiday?" asked the neighbor.

"Yeah, I guess so," said the average American, and added, "but somehow it didn't seem much like Christmas, did it?"

Moral: The trouble with people is that if you give them a real holiday from trouble they don't feel like people.

Three Steubenville Men Held in Robbery Slaying

WEIRTON, W. Va. (AP)—Weirton police are holding three Steubenville, Ohio, men on an open charge in the fatal shooting of Joseph Michael Bennett, 53, a gas station operator who was robbed of about $300 Christmas Eve.

Police Chief Charles Padden identified the trio as John Pastucha, 29; Lawrence Chaltalka, 27, and Henry Tolamine, 26. Padden said the manner in which Bennett was shot indicated he was slain after a struggle with his assailants.

Queen Elizabeth II Named 'Woman of Year'

Honored for Third Time; Mamie, Mrs. Pandit Second

By DOROTHY ROE

Woman of the Year for the third time in the 12th annual women's editor poll of AP newspapers.

Twice before the nation's women editors named her as top woman news personality of the year — in 1947, when the royal romance of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip first hit the front pages, and in 1952, when England's crown princess succeeded to the throne.

This year the pomp and panoply of the cororation, plus the current world tour of the young queen and her handsome consort, once again make Queen Elizabeth II the dominant news figure among the world's women.

Runnersup in the poll were Mamie Eisenhower, whose sparkling smile is familiar to all newspaper readers, and Mrs. Vijaya Pandit of India, current president of the U.N. General Assembly

Women voted outstanding in their respective fields for 1953 are as follows:

— Public Service —

Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of the newly created Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the second woman in history to hold U.S. cabinet rank.

The "Little Colonel," who organized and headed the Women's Army Corps in World War II has achieved her greatest honor this year, when President Eisenhower created a new cabinet post for her. Small, vital, and addicted to individual hats, Mrs. Hobby is in the upper echelons of Washington.

Wife of former Gov. William P. Hobby, publisher of the Houston Post, she was a tireless worker in the Eisenhower campaign, and is given much credit for swinging Texas to the Republican columns in the last election.

Commenting on women in public service, she said:

"Public service, on the part of men or women, expresses itself in many ways.

"The act of voting, participation in voluntary citizen's groups, holding public office—all represent meeting the obligations of democracy.

"If women—and men—accept the simple but important fact that citizenship in a free world represents such an obligation and seek, to the degree that each is able, to traslate it into action, they will be fulfilling the responsibility and privileges of citizens of this great nation."

— Politics —

Clare Boothe Luce, first woman ambassador to Rome from any nation and first woman ever appointed to head a major U.S. Embassy. The former playwright and congresswoman from Connecticut has been making top headlines for years, in varied fields during World War II she livened proceedings in Congress by coining the words "bubblehead" and "globaloney" during comments about former Vice President Henry Wallace.

A former New York fashion editor, she is the wife of publisher Henry R. Luce, publisher of Time, Life and Fortune magazines. She is author of seven plays and three books, a regular on the list of the world's ten best-dressed women, and a forceful and brilliant speaker.

She retired from politics in 1946 when she was converted to the Roman Catholic Church and again took up her writing. It was not until last year that she resumed political activity as a campaigner for General Eisenhower.

— Business —

Jacqueline Cochran, who this year managed to roll up two new aviation records while running three cosmetics companies doing a business of several million dollars a year. Miss Cochran last spring became the first woman in history to fly faster than the speed of sound, and also set a new international jet speed record for the 100-kilometer closed course of 652 miles an hour. She broke the supersonic barrier just in time to get a 17th wedding anniversary pesent from her husband, financier Floyd B. Odlum, which was a silver cup inscribed:

"To Supersonic Jackie from Floyd. May 11, 1953."

Supersonic Jackie has been making aviation headlines since 1932, when the former beauty-shop operator from Pensacola, Fla., obtained her pilot's license after two and a hlaf weeks training. She is the only woman to win the Bendix Air race (1933); she was the first woman to fly a bomber across the Atlantic (1941); she was World War I commander of the WASPS, and has won the Harmon tropny for top aviatrix 13 times.

This blonde dynamo with the sparkling smile has this advice for young women ambitious to make a success in big business:

"For any business success you need these ingredients: honesty, imagination, a real interest in people so you know what they want and what they need—and have a good strong back."

— Education —

Dr. Frances R. Horwich, "Miss Frances" of TV's "Ding-Dong School", an NBC net-work show originating in Chicago and aimed at both enetertaining and instructing preschool children. Started little more than a year ago, the program has won wide acclaim as a new departure in education for the youngest set.

Dr. Horwich, who hold a Ph. D. degree from Northwestern University, formerly was director of the department of education at Roosevelt College until her television debut as the teacher of "Ding-Dong School."

Fans of the five-a-week program include not only children but parents and teachers as well. "Miss Frances" estimates that one-third of the mothers watch the program with their childen, and many nursery schools tune in "Ding-Dong School".

— Sports —

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the perennial golf champion, who this year won her greatest victory, emerging triumphant after a grim bout with cancer. The sinewy, freckled Texan, who has been called the greatest woman athlete who ever lived, is now back in active golf competition after the sports world had feared last spring that she would never play in another tournament.

After a critical three-hour operation in a Beaumont, Tex., hospital, the Babe began to exhibit what she calls her "spiritual muscle," staging such a remarkable recovery that her doctors were astonded. Less than four months after the operation she was back in strenuous competition in Chicago's Tam o' Shanter tournament, leading off with a smacking 250-yard drive of which she said: "Man, if I'd hit it any better it would kill me."

In addition to having won practically every women's golf title, the Babe is an expert cook, an enthusiastic rose gardener, a graceful ballroom dancer and the wife of a 300 pound ex-wrestler named George Zaharias.

— Music —

Helen Traubel, opera singer whose break with the Metrolopolitan Opera Comapny this year launched a wide controversy over the merits of classical music versus the popular variety. Miss Traubel chose to continue her night club singing rather than sign a contract with the Met which forbade such appearances.

Miss Traubel was born in St. Louis, Mo., made her professional debut with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and established herself as a ranking Wagnerian soprano with her Metropolitan debut in 1939. She was Margaret Truman's voice coach for a period. Her husband is William Bass, who acts as her business manager.

At present engaged in a nationwide concert and nightclub singing tour, Miss Traubel was reached in Miami, Fla., with the news that she had been named 1953's outstanding new personality in the field of music. Asked if she found "pop" singing as rewarding as opera, she said:

"It certainly is just as satisfying—and lots more fun."

— Radio and TV —

Lucille Ball, co-star with her husband, Desi Arnaz, of the sensationally successful TV show, "I Love Lucy." The birth of her second child, Desi Arnaz IV, last Januart, was attended by a blaze of publicity usually reserved for the birth of a crown prince, and was duly chronicled not only in the daily press but also over nationwide radio and TV networks. The birth of the baby was oblingingly timed to the weekly television show, and he also obligingly followed the script by being a boy.

She recived this year's Television Academy award as the best commedienne of 1952, and her show the best situation comedy show. After having been considered washed-up by the movies five years ago, Lucille and Desi staged one of the most sensational comebacks in the history of entertainment, first with their fantastic success on TV and recently in one of the biggest movie contracts. ever awarded any stars.

— Stage and Movies —

Shirley Booth, who this year, at 45, won the movie Oscar as the best actress of the year for her first movie, "Come Back, Little Sheba." Simultaneously she was starring in the Broadway play, "The Time of the Cuckoo," where she had reaped lyrical reviews from the critics.

As she stumbled up the stairs to the stage of New York's International Theater to receive moviedom's top award on the night of March 19. Miss Booth received the news with typical modesty:

"I am a very happy and a very lucky girl. My luck has many names on it—look at the screen credits."

Miss Booth reached the peak of both stage and movie stardom after 40, an age at which many actresses start to fear the downgrade.

She is at present in Hollywood working on her second movie, "About Mrs. Leslie."

— Literature —

Edna Ferber, whose best-selling novel, "Giant", this year roused the ire of Texans and provided a continuing controversy providing lively and copious newspaper reading.

A tiny, silver-haired dynamo in a custom-made hat, Miss Ferber lives luxuriously in a smart Manhattan apartment, but her heart belongs to Chicago, scene of her early successes. She is an inveterate worker, author of close to 100 books, including such American classics as "So Big", "Show Boat", "Cimarron" and the play "Dinner at Eight.

She has been one of America's best-loved and best-known novelists for 40 years, has no thought of retiring. Says she:

"I'd rather be a writer than anything in the world. The wonderful thing about this business is that people remember only your successes."

Annual Party Held By Area Students

GREEN CAMP — The annual Christmas party of Green Camp School was presented Monday to a large crowd in the school gymnasium. The program was under the direction of Miss Lenore Rice, music instructor.

The high school girl's glee club sang three numbers, "Awaken Ye Shepherds," "O Holy Night," and "Jesus Is Born." Grades one through six presented a musical playlet "The Arrival of Santa." Parts were taken by Pat O'Hara, Judy Scholton, Victor Sparks, John Roetther, Barbara Hedges, Marcie Davis, Nancy Nothstine, Bobby Flach, Charles Holtsberry, Patty Lashey with Bobby Manter as director.

The school band brass sextet composed of Jack Mulvain, Don Schwaderer, Bill Schwaderer, Pat O'Hara, Bill Carey and George Barber played "Yuletide Carols." A pageant "And So They Came To Bethlehem," had as characters, Bill Carey, George Rush, Pat Sheppard, Jack Green, Tom Stout, Bill Smith, Bob Wilson, Jim Messenger, Louis Finch, Bob Showers, Bob Bish, with George Barber as the narrator. Numbers were sung by the seventh and eighth grade chorus. Scenes depicted with the prophet Isaiah, Mary and Joseph, the shepherds, the wise men and adoration of the Child. The pageant was under the direction of Richard L. Granlee.

Santa distributed a treat to preschool age and school children. The treat was furnished by the Green Camp Lions Club.

ONE-POUND BABY BORN

CINCINNATI (AP)—The one pound baby girl born Christmas day to Mrs. Angie South was in critical condition today, attendants at General Hospital reported. The premature infant was kept alive in a homemade incubator created from a cardboard carton before she was transported to the hospital.

$20,000 Blaze Destroys Barn At Upper Farm

Special to The Star.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Fire of apparently spontaneous origin in the hay mow destroyed a large barn on the Leo Kin farm, five miles west of here on Route 53, at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Lost with the 40 by 80 foot building was several tons of hay and shredded corn fodder, one steer, and farm machinery including a combine, wagon, corn shreder and a milking machine.

Firemen from Upper Sanusky, Harpster, Wharton and Forest were able to protect other buildings but unable to stop the fierce flames which leveled the barn. Loss was estimated at more than $20,000.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor, Allen Wentz. He called firemen and succeeded in removing seven of eight head of cattle in the burning barn. The Kin family was in Kirby when the fire was discovered. They had left home only 15 or 20 minutes before the fire broke out of the mow near the top of the barn.

Pistol Politics

Since a traitor in politics is someone who offends the politicians in power, it is evident that the Russians who have executed Lavrenti Beria and half a dozen others as traitors do not care for the Beria type.

They favor the military type.

Beria's clique was civilian. It included Stalin, who may have been destroyed by the same people who now have destroyed Beria. It also included Malenkov, who may be ticketed for the next charge of treason.

This is pistol politics at its worst. The struggle for political power inside the Soviet Union is not essentially different from the struggle in other lands, except for one thing:

The political elements of the Soviet Union are capable of ruthlessness not dreamed of in other lands. The entire Soviet despotism is based on the principle that the end always justifies the means in public affairs—any means.

They may be the murder of individuals or the murder of whole minorities. They may be the mouthings of Marx, the mouthings of Lenin, or the mouthings of Stalin. For a limited time, they apparently include the mouthings of Malenkov, who eventually will be murdered by the militarists or will have to murder them.

Stalin stayed in power by murdering the militarists. Whether they finally killed him or merely took advantage of his death is indeterminate, but they now are in the saddle.

Beria and Malenkov belonged to the same faction — the civilian faction which lorded it over the soldiers. But the soldiers now are doing the lording. Beria is gone, with six to keep him company in whatever corner of hell has been chained off for modern despots. They should save standing room for Malenkov.

Power of Decision

There is a close connection between the scolding of France by Secretary of State Dulles and the turmoil of French politics.

Any French government which tried to comply with the demands of Secretary Dulles for cooperation in Europe's defense against the Soviet Union would be voted out of office.

The French hate and fear the Germans as much or more than the Russians. And in some respects they hate and fear one another most of all.

They are perilously close as a government to a complete loss of the power of decision. As individualists, they continue to be unique. But as members of a self-governing society they show signs of having lost their sense of collective responsibility.

This did not happen suddenly or recently. It is the result of the shattering into splinter parties of France's politicians. At the present rate of turnover there will have been some two dozen French ministries within 10 years after the end of World War II.

The differences between the ministries will have been slight. They will have been more memorable for their likenesses. All of them were handicapped by inability to command legislative majorities. They could not make bold decisions.

Their leaders could not lead. The welfare of France was secondary far too often to the ambitions of political personalities.

The United States has a close kinship with the republic of France. It has shared with freedom-loving Frenchmen the rare privilege of honest criticism.

Secretary Dulles is exercising the privilege when he scolds the French for dallying with the terms of their own survival. A republic which sacrifices the power of decision to the ambitions of its politicians is on the verge of anarchy and the despotism which comes after anarchy.

The Passing Scene

"What," inquired a member of the rising generation "was so important about this One-Eyed Connelly that puts him on Page One when he dies? All it says about him is that he used to be a gate-crasher."

Well, it was this way:

One-Eyed Connelly was an Irish tramp who made a pest of himself at all kinds of public events where admission was by ticket only. He was always trying to sneak in without the ticket —and he usually made it.

He used to get his name in the papers all Rosembloom and Grover Whalen. He was part of the passing scene.

It isn't easy now to explain why this happened then, but it did happen. It seemed to be the accepted order of things at the time.

But things change. The passing scene passes. An Irish tramp named Connelly who used to crash gates and had no visible means of support hardly seems newsworthy now. Things will change again. A lot of tramps now in the news will be pretty puzzling when someone's grandchildren wants to know why they were important.

The musical "Guys and Dolls" is censored before the British royal family sees it officially, although they have already seen it unofficially, and we hope the queen won't puzzle those sitting around her by laughing at the jokes that have been cut out.

Dealing With Reality

By David J. Lawrence

Eisenhower Headed for 'Stalemate Government'

"Stalemate government," which plagues France and divides Britain and Italy with blocs and groups that hold the balance of power in the national legislature, may confront the Eisenhower administration in the next session of Congress, just as it has blocked effective party action in the postwar years of the Democratic administration.

For several days now there have been attempts to paint the picture of a coming legislative session in which the President's "leadership" over his own party will be asserted, but the realistic truth is that nobody can lead either party in Congress today and command unwavering support.

ACTUALLY, a flexible majority has proved the only way any progress can be made and it may well be questioned whether the attempt to carry out programs conference with the leaders of one party is necessarily more than giving lip service to an obsolete principle.

Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, would be well-advised to confer also with certain Democrats in Congress and to espouse principles rather than to try to dictate the actual legislation.

For there are four political blocs in America today — two inside each of the major parties. To ignore or gloss over this situation is to make more difficult the President's job and to bring about less rather than more cohesion.

It makes good reading, of course, for the President to be talking about the leadership of his party. It is always more pleasant to talk of things as they ought to be rather than what they truly are.

UNFORTUNATELY, wishful thinking cannot erase the fundamental divisions in each of the two major political parties. The sooner they are recognized for what they are, the more effectively can the barrier of "stalemate government" be overcome.

Basically the division between Republicans and Democrats which emerges just before political campaigns has little to do with the way votes are cast on fundamental issues in Congress.

The cleavage today inside each party is between the conservative liberals, on the one hand, and the radical liberals on the other.

Neither party has any bloc of ultra-conservatives who would disregard the necessary care for human requirements under federal authority and take refuge in hair-splitting differences between federal and state rights and hence do nothing in an emergency. Nor is there any differentiation merely along party lines where international issues are at stake.

INSIDE THE Democratic party are just as many members of Congress who don't want to bow down to the Communists at home or abroad as there are inside the Republican party. There are also just as many members inside the Democratic party who don't want to keep on handing out American taxpayers' money to foreign countries as there are inside the Republican party.

Americans are the same under the skin, despite the name-calling of those who like to characterize anybody as an "isolationist" who has a bit of national pride or shows resentment against the acts those allies engaged in trade with the enemy during the Korean war.

The real issues are economic and domestic — whether taxpayers' money is to be wasted abroad and whether American enterprises are to be weakened by threats of government ownership and control of business.

There are groups in American politics which would delegate monopolies in governmental authority to private organizations, and there are groups which favor confiscation of private property, though they disguise it as "social welfare."

As long as these ideological differences prevail, the Republican party will remain divided — and so will the Democratic party.

MR. EISENHOWER can lead only through the force of public opinion — the less partisan he himself happens to be politically, the better his chances for public support of those measures which are really meritorious.

Those among the President's advisers who are egging him on to a split with Republicans in Congress who may conscientiously disagree with him are bound to do a disservice to Mr. Eisenhower and his program.

The better way would be to recognize that there are Republicans who cannot and will not support certain legislative proposals

It would be folly for Mr. Eisenhower to yield to the advise of those who want him to run his party on a totalitarian basis and attempt some of those ill-fated "purges" in politics which Democratic as well as Republican presidents have tried in the past, only to increase the enmities within their own party.

'Twas the Day After, Etc.

By TRUMAN TWILL

The reason so many Christmas presents miss fire is the same reason so many fishermen don't catch fish.

Not knowing what the fish like to eat the fishermen offer them what they (the fishermen) would like to eat if they were fish.

The Christmas giver chooses what he'd like to find under his own Christmas tree.

This accounts for a canary yellow vest decorated with a print of a black and white springer spaniel and a row of brass buttons which Santa Claus left under my Christmas tree.

It accounts for weird and wonderful neckties which millions of males will wear with brave little smiles for the next few months, until they can be dropped quietly into oblivion.

It accounts for the fantastic assortment of stuff which women keep receiving from their doting children and other admirers year after year and which is the economic foundation of that American institution known as the white elephant sale.

It accounts for vast numbers of books which won't be read, beverages which won't be enjoyed, tobacco which will be smoked with marginal enjoyment and gimcracks that will be exclaimed over once and put out of sight forever.

Not that it matters, of course, because it's the spirit behind the gift that counts. But there is the question when it's all over of what a gaffer who remembers Jean Harlow can do with a canary-yellow vest decorated with black and white springer spaniels,

The brass buttons, incidentally, are the butt ends of Remington cartridges. This is an added attraction according to those who know about such things, the beardless young slipper-slappers.

The buttons are additional evidence that the spirit behind this gift was going strong at the time. The givers, bless them, must have been full of it, in its most singular form. Maybe plural, too.

They saw the thing in the display window of the foxy New York City cat trap where it came from and their cheery faces were wreathed in smiles as they plunked down the wherewithal and told the clerk where to send the package. Their spirit shows through the hearty inscription on the card tucked in the pocket, to make certain there'd be no quick shuffle on Christmas morning to bestow the thing on someone young enough to wear it—someone about 30 years younger than old Reddi-Kut with his salt and pepper treads plucked from plain gas-pipe racks.

I cannot wear the vest to work. It would keep the boss awake.

I can't wear it to church.

I can't wear it to a social gathering; no one ever gets that sociable in the gatherings I attend.

I can't wear it to do chores in RFD. There would be a stampede, and the cows wouldn't let the milk down. I can't wear it to bed because it's too short in case of firemen. I can't wear it on a vacation, for fear a constable might get ideas and run me into the pokey.

I may have to learn to go to horse races simply because a couple of wags got rid of some inhibitions at Merry Christmas.

Church's Value Rests on Independence

By Raymond Moley

The Supreme Court of New Jersey, by unanimous decision, reminds us once more of a truth that might grow dim by the passing of the years.

This recent decision says that religion and religious worship must remain free not only of all those more common enemies which are the product of hate and fear, but of the seductive but deadly power of state support.

No tyranny can be more overpowering than government in the garb of a nursemaid.

The facts in the case brought before the court seem to be wholly without danger. In fact, they are beguiling, except to those who can see the basic principle involved.

The Gideons International is an organization whose purpose is to bring the Bible to as many people as possible.

-:-

EVERY AMERICAN who frequents hotels has had some reason to be indebted to the Gideon Bible he almost always finds in his room.

Recently, the Gideons have undertaken a campaign to get the Bible into the hands of schoolchildren through cooperation with the proper authorities.

A local division of the Gideon organization proposed to the Board of Education of Rutherford, New Jersey, that it offer to the children in the schools of that city a copy of a volume containing the Psalms, the Proverbs, and the New Testament.

AT A MEETING of the board later, opposition to the idea was voiced by a Catholic priest and a Jewish rabbi on the ground that the volume in question was derived from the King James version of the Bible, which was unacceptable to the Roman Catholic and Jewish religions.

Despite these objections, the board proceeded to arrange for a distribution of the volumes.

The method was to addres a letter to parents requesting each to indicate whether he wanted the child to have one of the books. Then the children of those who so indicated were to receive their books at the school in their classrooms.

-:-

ACTION WAS taken in the courts and the board was restrained from carrying out its plan.

The case reached the New Jersey Supreme Court, and Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt has handed down the decision of the court.

It should be noted here that Justice Vanderbilt labored for many years in the interest of judicial reform in New Jersey, and the recently adopted Constitution of that state contains much of the reform which he advocated.

His name, it will be remembered, was under consideration for appointment as chief justice of the United States. It was, in fact, one of the final three before the President, and the decision for Warren was apparently made because of a slight difference in age.

This decision reviews in detail the age - old struggle between church and state and concludes that the proposed action of the Rutherford board would, in fact, violate the principle of the separation of church and state as set forth in the federal Bill of Rights and in the Constitution of New Jersey.

This wholesome reaffirmation of a great principle might well be a warning to all religious bodies that their integrity must depend upon their ability to stand alone.

Even in so slight an impairment as was proposed by the Rutherford board involves that principle. Religion's eternal values must rest not in union with the state but in separation.

Strike Idle-Time Cut

By Jay G. Hayden

Conclusion of two major strikes within the week have highlighted President Eisehower's policy of keeping his nose out of employer-employe disturbances.

Last October 23 some 33,000 members of the United Automobile Workers Union, employed by North American Aviation, Inc., walked out because their demand for an additional 26 cents an hour had been refused. Since these workers were engaged in production of Sabre jet and Super-Sabre planes for the U. S. military there seemed many reasons why the government should rush in to stop the strike.

Time and again, both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman intervened both by seizure of plants and invocation of the Taft-Hartley court injunction provision — the last occasion in that line having been Truman's seizure of the steel industry only to be upset by the Supreme Court.

Without exception those presidential interventions were interpreted as compulsion of employers to accede to union demands.

The North American stoppage did not wind up that way. After the government failed to interfere, employes drifted back to work until, as last reported before the strike ended, 16,286 had returned to their jobs. In the end the strikers got absolutely nothing more than they had been offered before the strike began.

Plainly, the force that ended the stoppage was the desire of rank and file workers to receover their lost pay envelopes.

The other strike recently ended was that of some 400 photoengravers which caused a nine-day blackout of all but one of New York's daily newspapers. These newspapers could have done very well without photoengravers. What really stopped them was refusal of some 20,000 members of other crafts to cross picket lines, presumably on the assumption that whatever the photoengravers won would pass on proportionately to other newspaper trades.

As with North American, there was tremendous pressure on President Eisenhower to do something about the New York strike — the complainants in that case probably being more owners than unionists. All the government did was to lend its labor department conciliators.

The strike ended with no gain whatever for the unionists beyond what they could have had with no strike at all.

One of President Eisenhower's first official acts (last Feb. 6) was complete abolishment of wage and salary controls, instituted because of the Korean War. On the day the Wage Stabilization Board went out of business its last director, Charles E. Killingsworth, said 11,000 or more union applications for wage increases were pending before the agency.

There was widespread prophecy that removal of the government check rein on wages would result either in a multitude of strikes or, if increases were widely acceded to, an inflationary rise in the cost of living.

Actually, while the number of strikes so far since Mr. Eisenhower took over has been about the same as in the like period of 1952, under President Truman, damage from strikes, as indicated by the number of participants and man-workdays idle has sensationally decreased.

Here are the figures for the first 10 months of 1953, compared with the same period in 1952, as supplied by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics:

	1953	1952
Number of Strikes	4,475	4,799
Men Involved	2,140,000	3,450,000
Days Idle	21,400,000	56,700,000

The only time President Eisenhower has resorted to the strike prevention injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley law was in the recent tieup of East docks by longshoremen. That was strictly due to expulsion of the old union by the American Federation of labor on the ground of racketeering, with the newly organized AFL affiliate begging for presidential intervention.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The office of probate judge in Marion County was created in 1851. Prior to that time the duties of that office were performed by the court of common pleas. George Snyder, a Democrat, was the first probate judge, serving from 1852 until 1861. From 1861 to 1867 the office was held by George Gray, a Democrat, and for the next two years George H. Busby, also a Democrat, presided. The first Republican to hold the office was John R. Garberson who served from 1869 until 1872

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Disturbing Prospect

A startling thought continues to linger in the minds of TV fans since it recently was shown that a face can remain on a TV screen for days after a performer has finished. For if this can happen what's to prevent commercials from staying on and on and on! As a matter of fact we just heard of a man who is in bad shape and insists that his condition is due to the fact a singing commercial, or jingle, got caught in the upper right-hand corner of his screen and has been there for the last four days and nights. (Doctors say that two minutes is all the average human being can stand of a thing like that.)

The worriment began a few days ago when Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Travers of Blue Point, L.I., reported that the image of Francey Lang, a singer, got stuck on the screen and remained there 51 hours, through dozens of other programs.

An electronic explosion can burn an image into the phosphorescent lining of a cathode tube and cause this, it was explained.

This disturbs us no end. What if Groucho Marx remains on our screen during an address by John Foster Dulles? Suppose President Eisenhower's face gets stuck on our screen while Groucho is doing "Bet Your Life"?

What would people think if they tuned into a United Nations program and Mr. Vishinsky appeared to be running "Name That Tune" or appearing as a guest star on "What's My Line?"

Picture the situation if your TV set got into such shape in the cathode section that "Masquerade" remained in the upper right - hand corner with "Dragnet" in the lower left at a time when the scheduled program was "Arthur Godfrey and His Friends," or "Meet The Press." What if you couldn't get "Howdy Doody" out of "Omnibus"?

Adrienne Garrett, a Pelham lass, is Miss Rheingold for 1954, winning a small fortune in cash, many vacation trips and her picture on all Rheingold ads . . . Our candidate was Lotta Beers, daughter of J. Fuller Beers and niece of Philip McCann.

One of New York's most unusual events was the recent Bake-A-Cake Rodeo at the Waldorf with thousands of dollars in prizes for housewives and other nonpros from all over America. We phoned Paul Stewart, the Waldorf public relations wizard and asked, "What's cooking" Then there's the story of the fellow who ran into a home-town girl in the Waldorf lobby during the event who asked, "What are you doing here?" and gave her one of those wholly skeptical looks when she replied frankly, "I'm baking a pie."

Felix Aylmer is the perfect "stand-in" for Malenkov or Malik, in "The Prescott Proposals." Buck Crouse saw him cross a room in Hollywood and offered him the part of the Soviet ambassador on sight.

John Murray Anderson, who revolutionized musical show-biz through "Greenwich Village Follies" away back in 1922, retains his wizardry in his new "Alamanac."

The National Motorboat Show, for years packing 'em in at Grand Central Palace, must be shifted to Kingsbridge Armory away up near Ultima Thule next month and we can imagine a yachtsmen finally locating it and exclaiming, "Boy, did this show drag its anchor!"

Eddie Albert, doing a replacement job in "Seven Year Itch," finds a part that fits him like a glove.

Senator Raps Plan To Consider Hawaii Only for U.S. Statehood

By G MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said today he will attack the reasoning of Republican leaders who would delay statehood for Alaska, but grant it to Hawaii.

Sparkman told reporters he will support a move to grant statehood to both, despite plans of the Republican leadership to press only for the admission of Hawaii.

"It would be a very serious mistake to offer statehood to either without offering it to the other," Sparkman said. "I can't but feel that it's a political thing to want to admit one without the other. Alaska is deserving of statehood."

Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb), chairman of the Senate Interior Committee which handles statehood legislation, contends pending proposals to admit Alaska are unworkable because they would leave more than 90 per cent of its area under federal ownership and exempt from state taxation and administration. He has announced, however, he will vote to admit Hawaii.

A bill supported by the Eisenhower administration which would admit only Hawaii has been stalled in Butler's committee since it voted 8-7 last March to tie in a provision for admission of Alaska also. However, last Monday Sen. Long (D-La), one of the committee members who voted for the amendment to the bill, said he is now willing to support the legislation in its original form—for admission of Hawaii—both in the committee and the Senate.

Sparkman said he will attack the argument that pending legislation would leave too much of Alaska under federal ownership.

"There's no reason why the federal government should keep that land forever," he said. "It could be opened up, a portion at a time, for home - steading and so forth."

Asked whether he would oppose statehood for Hawaii unless Alaska could have it too, Sparkman replied "I'm not saying I will oppose it. But I certainly will support any move to include Alaska."

He said it is certain that an Alaska statehood amendment will be offered on the Senate floor if any bill to admit Hawaii only is brought up for debate.

Children Found Living in Cave Helped by GIs

CINCINNATI (AP) — The envelope had blood on it. It came from Korea and was written by T.Sgt. Creed A. Harris. The notation said "this letter was damaged in an aircraft accident."

The sergeant, in a letter to his family here, expresses in a simple, but dramatic way, American and Christian charity.

Sgt. Harris wrote:

"Here, just a few days ago, several men of this squadron were out hunting and found 80 Korean children living in a cave. They had no shoes and only a few rags for clothing. They were eating out of a trash and garbage dump.

"The men of the third floor squadron chipped in money and time and built a few houses for these children. We have also given them food. But clothing is something else. And they need clothing badly.

"You may be sure that the man who said 'war is hell' was speaking about the after effects. The children are all orphans and they are dependent on us GI's.

"These children will always remember what we do for them—that it was an American who helped them, not a 'Communist

"I have a wife and child in Cincinnati and I know whatever happens, I would not want my son to suffer like these children.

"If anyone can help by sending clothes, food or money, we will see to it that the children are helped."

All members of the Cro-Em-Tak Club were present at a recent Christmas luncheon held at the Shangri-La Restaurant at the airport, when a Christmas gift exchange was conducted.

In contests, awards went to Mrs. Edwin Price, Mrs. Omer Williams, Mrs. Phillip Hall. Members sent a get-well card to Mrs. Earl Keis who was a patient at Marion City Hospital.

Next meeting of the group will be held Dec. 31 with Mrs. Glenn Kellogg on Merkle Ave.

—:—

Husbands of the members of Variety Club were guests for the Christmas dinner party Tuesday evening in the community rooms of the West Town Branch of National City Bank. Tables for the dinner were decorated with Christmas greenery and a miniature Santa's sleigh and reindeer. Miniature trees holding Christmas candy were favors and place cards for each one. The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Walter Turney Jr., Mrs. Paul Dasher and Mrs. Charles Riley. Mrs. Robert Thibaut received a special prize. A gift exchange was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Stone of Harpster.

Employes of the Marion Supply Co., along with their families, were guests at a Christmas dinner held recently at the Shangri-La Restaurant. Later the group went to the home if Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnston on Chicago Ave., where Santa Claus paid a surprise visit and a gift exchange was conducted.

—:—

Rev. and Mrs. Lester L. Zimmerman entertained the choir of the Nazarene Church at a Christmas get-together Sunday evening at their home, 551 S. Vine St. Approximately 35 members were present. Refreshments were served. Favors were colorful Christmas tree ornaments filled with mints and candy canes in red and white.

—:—

The Beechwold restaurant in north Columbus was the place of the annual Christmas party and gift exchange of the Marion Jolly Janglers Club Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Eileen Alexander was presented a gift for her birthday anniversary. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Beckel of 885 Henry St. in Marion.

—:—

Mrs. Phillip Hall of 650 Uncapher Ave. entertained recently with a Christmas party for Troop No. 31 of the Girl Scouts. Mrs. William Dudley is the troop leader. Kay Fortner read the Christmas Story. Games and contests were played with Judy McCartney and Beverly Riley winning top honors. A buffet luncheon was served at a table decorated in keeping with Christmas. A gift exchange followed.

The Green Camp Pythian Sisters at a recent meeting decided to supply food and clothing to a needy family through the Salvation Army. Mrs. Lydia Lauer, Mrs. Bertha Chard and Mrs. Bess Stayner were named on a committee to be in charge. Mrs. Mildred Kempton and Miss Kitty Kempton were in charge of the program and entertainment. Awards went to Mrs. Ruth Haberma., Mrs. Arline McNeil, Mrs. Lydia Lauer and Mrs. Mary Gosnell. Installation of newly - elected officers will be held Jan. 5. The staff will practice on Jan. 4.

INDIANS PRAY FOR RAIN

In the spring the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico pray for rain and the renewal of life everywhere. Prayer-sticks are planted in the fields, and dances are held in the kivas, or ceremonial chambers, as well as in the open.

From 1940 to 1950 the proportion of men in the U.S. population who were married increased from about 62 to about 67 per cent.

Maranatha Church Schedules Speaker

Rev. John Weeks, a missionary on furlough from the island of Martinique, will speak at all services of the Maranatha Bible Church on Sunday. He will be heard at morning worship, the young people's meeting at 6:30 p. m., and at the Gospel hour following.

For the Bible Fellowship over Sstation WHKC, Columbus, in charge of the Maranatha Church group Sunday morning, the subject will be "Fervent Love."

There will be a Watch Night service Thursday from 10 o'clock until midnight. This will end the church's sixth year of existence.

Italians Have Favorite Turkey Dinner Recipe

ROME (AP)—They had turkey for Christmas dinner in Italy, too—but you wouldn't recognize it.

For kitchen-minded housewives, here,'s how it's done, bologna style:

You take a fairish slice of turkey breast, cover it with a thin cut of boiled ham, and spread thereon a generous portion of cheese. Fry it in olive oil or bake it in the oven—it doesn't matter.

That's how Italians ate their turkey on Christmas Day. They call it "tacchino alla bolognese."

-:- Church Activities -:-

Three organizations of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church will hold meetings next week. Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the church, both the Sunday School Council and the Youth Fellowship will meet and on Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., the trustee board will meet following the weekly prayer service at the church. Subject for the midweek service will be "Teaching of the Sunday School Lesson," to be discussed by the pastor, Rev. L. E. Ames. Sunday morning in the worship service at 10:30, the pastor will preach on "Message and a Method."

—:—

A holiday event on the calenlar of Our Lady of Victory Circle, Daughters of Isabella, was the Christmas party held recently in the Eagles' Hall. Table appointments were a Nativity scene centering the main table with groups of choir boys, favors of small small choir boys, tapers and greenery completing the decorations.

Mrs. Amelia Eckenrode was mistress of ceremonies and greetings were extended by Mrs. Emma Simmons, regent. Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F. was speaker and at the close of his talk the Rosary was recited. Guests included Rev. Spickerman, pastor, Rev. Robert E. Gately and Rev. Edward Hudacek, assistant pastors.

Mrs. Mary Hamilton, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lucille Osmun, sang "Christmas," and Mrs. Loie Faini gave a reading, "Seminary Christmas." Piano solos, "White Christmas" and "Holy Night" by Mrs. Ruth Young were followed by a dance by Dottie Andrews and Susann Robbins.

Mrs. Simmons was presented a gift from the circle after which gifts were distributed from a Christmas tree.

Mrs. Joesphine Millisor and Miss Regina Lawler were chairman and co-chairman respectively, and assisting were Mrs. Mary Quick, Mrs. Mary Cusick, Mrs. Amelia Eckenrode, Mrs. Catherine Everly, Mrs. Loie Faini, Mrs. Mary Faurot, Miss Vivian Garster, Mrs. Gladys Giles, Mrs. Anna Marie Gilmore, Mrs. Ruth Young and Mrs. Mary Hamilton.

A letter from an Alaska missionary was read by Mrs. Grace Disterdick at the December meeting of the Green Camp Baptist Missionary Society in the church parlors. Mrs. Claire Porter led devotions. Mrs. Donna Ruth Jones was in charge of group singing. A letter of thanks for gifts to the Baptist Missionary Teaching School in Chicago was read by Mrs. Jones. Mrs. Mildred Deeds was program chairman. Assisting her were Mrs. Elizabeth O'Hara, Mrs. Wilda Hamblin, Mrs. Anna Kegg, Mrs. Vivian Converse, Mrs. Doris Bosse, Mrs. Donna Ruth Jones and Mrs. Grace Disterdick. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Doris Bosse and Mrs. Mildred Deeds.

—:—

Mrs. George Thibaut of Prospect recently entertained the Ann Judson Mission Circle of the Prospect Baptist Church. The meeting opened with a duet by Mrs. Paul Kyle and Mrs. Harry Lauer. Devotions were by Mrs. Hazel Mounts. Letters were read from Miss Mildred Proctor, Baptist missionary to the Philippines, Bacone Baptist Children's Home and from Kodiak, Alaska, thanking members for the package sent them. Mrs. George Thomas reported on the boxes of candy and Christmas cards she had sent to the boys in service and shut-ins of the church. Mrs. Eddie Griffith was program leader. Her subject was "A Christmas Service." A duet was given by Mrs. Kyle and Mrs. Lauer. Others assisting with the program were Mrs. Carl Harmon and Mrs. John Griffith. Mrs. Eugene Kimmel was in charge of the Quiet Hour.

Prospect Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Harry Lauer of Prospect for the Christmas meeting. Eighteen members answered roll call. Devotions were by Mrs. Milo Gast on "Christmas." A piano solo was by Mrs. Harry Lauer, who played "White Christmas." The guest speaker was Mrs. Hans Henzel, who told of "Christmas in Germany." The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Paul Kyle and Mrs. Vera Herbster. A gift exchange was held. Guests were Mrs. Henzel Jr., Mrs. E. T. Henzel and Mrs. Kyle. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Harold Cloud, Jan. 28. The remainder of the evening was spent singing Christmas carols.

Peace Chances Brighter, Says Madam Pandit

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the United Nations General Assembly, said today as the year ended she saw greater prospects for peace "than for some time past."

Speaking at a news conference, she gave as reasons for her hopes for a peaceful year:

1. A general softening attitude by both sides of the power blocs.
2. A general endeavor to stop, pause and think.
3. A general repeated and decided attempt to arrive at united decisions on the part of the world's nations.

"I find the general atmosphere more favorable than for some time back," she said, "opposing people seem to get together and discuss things."

Kiwanis Club Program Given By Musicians

A special program of Christmas music was the entertainment at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Hotel Harding.

Included on the program were a piano duet by Dick Myers and George Lane and the Polka Dot Trio composed of Ronald and Carl Breece and Jimmy Beverly and accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. John Salisbury.

Christmas melodies were sung by a sextet composed of Jean Bibler, Sally Barton, Delores Cosey, Sally Waddell, Paul Foster, Glenn Dalton, Joe Snouffer and Dave Hanning. Carolyn Jones was the accompanist.

Special guests were the Little Brothers sponsored by the club under its Big Brother program. The big brother Kiwanians and their little brother guests were Rex Robinson and Dick Close, Elmer Weimer and Jack Mattix, Dick Brandt and Gary Silvers, William Goodwin and George Granlee and Walter Grumblat and Gene Bowman.

The Big Brother program is a new project of the club which it is sponsoring with the cooperation of Juvenile Judge Edward Ruzzo. Robinson is chairman of the committee in charge.

Other guests at the meeting were Homer Waddell, Robert Miley, Bill McGrew and Jack Arter Jr., all of Marion, Carl Bonner of Sidney, Nebr., and Corp. Edgar Allen, USAF, just returned from Korea.

Robert T. Trippy of Columbus was a visiting Kiwanian.

Four Drivers Stopped By Highway Patrolmen

Travails of Mimi

By George Sokolsky

I have never witnessed a performance of Puccini's "La Boheme" that equalled the new mounting of this sad opera at the Metropolitan, produced by Joseph Mankiewicz.

SOKOLSKY

As I walked home, instead of humming the arias, I felt that something about this opera did not fit our world.

Mimi, as you may recall, died in the garret of her lover, Rodolfo. Their friends, artists, live in the latin quarter, in poverty but full of hope and fun. Mimi is suffering from tuberculosis and her friends are helpless to aid her.

That's it. In these days and in our country, her friends, being hopeful artists, would probably have fellowships from some foundation. Maybe, if they were Frenchmen, the State Department would have given them what is impudently called Fulbright Scholarships, the funds not being provided by Senator Fulbright but by you and me, heavy-laden taxpayers.

THEY WOULD NOT BE living in a garret but in a housing development and it would not have been necessary for Rodolfo and Marcello to burn a manuscript in an iron stove to keep warm, they would have steam heat and air conditioning. The amusing scene in which the candles go out and no match is available to relight them would be missed because they would have electric lights and if the fuse blew, there would be a flashlight, and even if they used candles, there would be plenty of matches because they are given away for nothing as advertisements.

Mimi would undoubtedly have hospitalization. She would have signed up for the Blue Cross. Besides, many forms of tuberculosis are now curable. Long before she got into so much trouble, she would have had a chest examination. That is, if she had any sense at all, she would have had her chest examined. This is done free in most parts of the United States.

EARLY SHE WOULD have been ordered to drink orange juice, which is very cheap. Of course, Puccini does not have Mimi smoking cigarettes; were this scene current, she might engage in that practice, which is very bad for diseased lungs. The doctors today would have advised her to consume varied vitamins. Undoubtedly, they would try several of the antibiotics and they might advocate more or less sun, depending on the theory pursued.

Certainly no girl with tuberculosis would be standing in the snow, even if she were a soprano and had a wonderful aria to sing, in nothing but a cotton dress and a knitted stole. Today she would go to an outlet store and get a cloth coat pretty cheap and if she knew her way around in the free-for-all-world in which Mimi moved, she might even land a mink coat.

These friends of Mimi who watched her die surely would not in these days fuss wondering what to do. They would have yanked a doctor from his dinner table or out of bed, or they would have telephoned the police for an ambulance to get her to a hospital. Of course, folks die in our world as they did in the period that Puccini used for his opera but we try to keep them alive as long as possible. To help solve Mimi's problem, we buy Christmas seals.

I FORGET that Mimi's troubles were in the latin quarter of Paris and that I am writing about the United States. In the latin quarter, they seem to enjoy dying to an aria, but here we enjoy living, with or without an aria. We devote ourselves to the art of keeping alive and so many of us reach what used to be called old age that that condition hardly exists. In my boyhood, it used to be said that an average life was 35; today, even 65 is young and more people die in senility than in maturity. Today Mimi might have had her lung collapsed. She might have lived long after that.

But then there would have been no "La Beheme." Puccini has to have his heroine die or "La Boheme" would be a comedy and not a tragedy, which would have been all wrong. And if the opera had been a comedy, it might been all wrong. And if the opera had been a comedy, it might have been done by Hammerstein and Rodgers and not by Puccini and his librettists, Giacosa and Illica. And it would not have been played in the Metropolitan but possibly in Billy 'rose's Theater. Spare the thought!

Backs Red-Tinged Government

Russian Newspaper Lauds Guatemala

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Moscow's Communist newspaper Pravda has declared its full support of the government of Guatemala—under attack by American officials as Communist - dominated.

Referring to "progressive measures of the Guatemalan government," copies of Prava reaching here warned that the Central American country is "not alone" in its "struggle for independence" against "American imperialism."

In Pravda's parlance the adjective "progressive" is almost always used only to describe Communist governments or political parties.

John Moors Cabot, U. S. assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said last October that Guatemala was "openly playing the Communist game." A few days later, Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) told newsmen that "Communism has established a strong beachhead in Guatemala."

Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz has denied charges that his government is Communist or encourages communism. Foreign observers there generally concede that Arbenz, a leftist, and most of his government are not Communists but they insist that the Reds play a dominant role in the country, controlling the Confederation of Labor, the government radio and newspapers and the social security system.

Guatemala has expropriated some 4,000 acres of land formerly owned by the U.S.-controlled United Fruit Co. a move applauded by Pravda. The U. S. State Department last September protested that Arbenz's government was violating international law in not providing sufficient compensation to the company for the lands.

Pravda predicted that "imperialists and their lackeys in Central America" may make new efforts at "open intervention in Guatemala" in the coming months.

"The intrigues of reactionaries at the present time against Guatemala are being intensified," it added. "The press of the United States is openly inciting to armed intervention against Guatemala. In this it makes use of the false thesis that the democratic regime in Guatemala allegedly 'threatens peace and security on the American continent' ".

The paper said "However the people of Guatemala notwithstanding its smallness realizes its strength, realizes that it is not alone. On its side is the sympathy of all peoples of the world, the growing forces of the warriors for democracy and peace."

It is rare for Pravda to lavish such praise on any government as it devotes to Guatemala. The paper's phraseology is highly reminiscent of terms it reserves for actions of the Communist-dominated governments in Eastern Europe.

Cardinal Visits Men in Korea, Talks to 3,300

U. S. 40th DIVISION, Korea (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman flew across snow-covered mountains today to visit more than 3,300 men of the 40th U. S. Infantry Div.

He stood bareheaded before a microphone and addressed a crowd 500 men and officers who met him at the division airstrip, including the 9th Corps commander, Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, the 4th Div. commander, Maj. Gen. Ridgely Gaither and 40th Div. Chaplain (Lt. Col.) William B. Sharp.

The 160th regimental commander, Col. Charles R. (Monk) Meyer, Bradentown, Pa., former West Point football star, was the cardinal's host at a noon meal at his regiment.

Later the Catholic archbishop of New York talked to more than 2,000 at the 160th Rgt. theater.

The cardinal told the men that they should try "to be worthy of their earthly mothers who bore them and their heavenly mother, Mary."

Cardinal Spellman then conferred briefly with Catholic Chaplain Capt. George Schumaker, Sioux City, Iowa, and Capt. Robert Feeney, Scranton, Pa.

The church leader then traveled to the 22th Rgt. where he was the guest of Col. Louis A. Walsh, Manhattan, N. Y.

About 800 men heard the cardinal say: "American soldiers have taught me better than I could have learned in any other way what America means to me."

Navy Plane Wreckage Found in Island Volcano

GUAM (AP)—A search team today found the wreckage of a big Navy plane that disappeared Sunday while looking for another lost Navy weather plane and said there were no survivors of the 10 crewmen aboard.

The wreckage of the R4D8 was found in the crater of an extinct volcano on tiny Agrihan Island 380 miles north of here.

The searchers said it apparently had crashed into the cloud-capped, 3,166-foot cone without warning.

The search for the missing weather plane was called off by the Navy at noon today.

Front for Reds

By Victor Riesel

In a little basement restaurant off Rome's Via Veneto this summer, I sat with American Socialist leader Norman Thomas and spoke bitterly of the betrayal of America by Europe's Socialist and labor leaders. Gentle Norman Thomas, wearied by his travels and an airplane breakdown at an Egyptian desert airport, finally rose to leave as luncheon ended.

RIESEL

Halfway through the door, he turned and with the sadness of a greatly burdened man said:

"All right, Victor, but don't you report that all Socialists are Communists."

They are not, of course. But most of Europe's powerful Socialists and the labor federations they control, which, in turn, control much of France and parts of Italy, are following a policy the objectice logic of which leads straight to treason against the free world.

In many areas they have become the roving propagandists for the Soviet line.

ONE OF THESE propagandists recently invaded the U. S. —seeking to turn our own liberal and labor leaders against their country. This man, one of France's most important government officials, is the oh-so-intellectually-fashionable Daniel Mayer. For weeks previous to Nov. 3, Mayer agitated for the Soviet line in New York and Washington.

Since he is the President of the Foreign Relations Committee of the French National Assembly—a post comparable to that held by Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Alexander Wiley—Mayer came with obvious official and French Socialist Party prestige.

He demanded—and got—long sessions with AFL Ladies' Garment Workers Union leader David Dubinsky, CIO Men's Clothing Union chief Jack Potofsky, and other labor leaders. He virtually cussed out the U. S. He was quickly told off by these labor men. He then passed on to State Dept. Counselor, Douglas McArthur II. Senator Herbert Lehman, Madame Pandit and United Nations Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge.

MAYER HAD THREE basic things to say: He insisted that Russia was the victim of an hysterical West, which "was ringing" her with military bases. He also stated that Russia did not want war. Mayer even told those he met that the French Government has a secret document from Russia purporting to state that Malenkov's five-year - consumer plan "is so majestic in scope that its success depended on peace not war."

When he was criticized by an AFL spokesman at one of these gatherings, Mayer screamed hysterically that the U. S. is hysterically anti - Communist. At one point he sounded like Vishinsky, one of his listeners reports.

At all times Mayer insisted that there must not be a European army because, he said, the Soviets were no threat. We are the threat to world peace, said the man.

It can now be expected that the French Socialists will join with the Communists in a labor war on any French government which doesn't take the same line.

—:—

NOR DO THE ITALIAN Socialists and labor leaders love us more. Right now they are working quietly behind the scenes in Rome to get a pro-Soviet, Pietro Nenni, in the cabinet. Nenni has worked intimately with the Communists. Imagine discussing NATO secrets with him. Imagine his having the right to get into the vast NATO naval base in beautiful Naples Bay. On a Saturday night, Naples is so full, of our warships and men that its main drag looks like San Francisco's Market Street during the war.

Once Nenni is in, the Italian government becomes a popular front operation. If you want to realize fully what this can mean, just look at what the current Italian cabinet has already agreed to send Russia.

In 1954 Italy will deliver to the Soviets: hundreds of millions of dollars worth of thermo-electrical equipment, cargo and refrigerator ships, tug boats, cranes, rayon, woolen and artificial fabrics, electrical equipment, and textile machinery—in addition to food.

Certainly, Europe is having a red Christmas.

Irate Convict Kills Wife, 2 Others and Self

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Orvis Burdett, angry at attempts to send him back to prison, got revenge Christmas Eve by killing his wife, his brother-in-law and his father-in-law. Then he committed suicide with the same gun.

Burdett, 39, served 13 years in the Moundsville, W. Va. State Penitentiary for kicking a man to death. Dep. Sheriff Howard Imboden said the wife's family had wanted the former convict's parole permanently revoked, asserting he mistreated her.

Because of complaints by the wife and her family, the parole was taken away temporarily four months ago.

Dead beside Burdett were his wife, Gwendelene, 26; her father, Columbus Cochran, 49; and Delbert Gwinn, 33.

The shooting was at an apartment house in which the Cochran and Gwinn families lived at Navarre, near here.

Burdett, the deputy sheriff said, surprised the two men with a pistol and marched them to a bedroom in the Cochran home.

"You know, I've always wanted to do that," Mrs. Gwinn quoted Burdett as saying before he fired two shots into her husband's head.

Cochran was killed while running for a pistol purchased because the family feared Burdett.

Burdett's last two shots killed his wife and himself.

Baby Girl Found Frozen; Mother Held by Police

DETROIT (AP)—The frozen body of a 7-month-old baby was found in an unheated apartment yesterday afternoon and police are holding the mother for questioning.

A coroner's report said the baby girl had apparently been dead between 10 and 18 hours. Its body was found beneath a pile of rags in her crib.

Held was Mrs. Ruby Jones, mother of four children. Detective Sgt. Glenn B. Coller said she told him she "went out drinking" at 2 a. m. yesterday and returned at 7 a. m., gave the baby a bottle of milk and went to bed. Coller added there seemed to be discrepancies in her testimony.

TIRE, WHEEL STOLEN

Theft of a tire and wheel from his car was reported to the Marion County Sheriff's Department Friday at 11 a.m. by Willis Haberman of New Bloomington. He told Sheriff Deputies that the new tire and wheel was taken from his car parked at the north side of Haberman's Grocery in New Bloomington sometime between 1 a.m. when he parked the car at 11 a.m.

Lost Blankets

By Laura Hobson

I have never lost 1700 blankets but my heart certainly went out to the Sampson Air Force Base in upper New York state when I heard that it had.

HOBSON

Though the 1700 would have cost you or me about $15,000, the lucky Air Force can get things wholesale, so the price to them was a mere $8,000.

Nevertheless losing 1700 blankets is a chilling experience for anybody and when the Finger Lakes Laundries and Dry Cleaners, Inc. didn't return the blankets with the week's wash, a board of inquiry was appointed to investigate.

"The apparent loss," said the Finger Lakes Co., "can, we believe, be blamed on faulty inventories, and we have referred the claim to our insurance carrier."

WHICH IS WHERE, at last report, the matter rests.

"As a housewife, I predict that that's where it will rest for a good long time, and I'll bet that about 9,000,000 other housewives would predict it with me.

For one of the mysteries of life common to all women who send all or part of the weekly wash is the discrepancy between what's marked down on the laundry list on Monday and what's checked off as returned the following Monday.

Among the missing, usually, is nothing as valuable as a blanket, but even if it's just a face cloth from your set of a dozen, it does irk you when it doesn't come back.

And if doesn't help to have the laundry tell you firmly that it was properly checked out and that you must be mistaken.

I'VE NEVER yet invented a way to guarantee that these little laundry losses won't happen. To insist that the pick-up man check through each item before you surrender the wash on Mondays is impractical, and you can't hold his lapels at the end of the week while you make him watch you check back each item he delivers.

And so, the disappearing act continues, and you'd feel too small to ask your own "insurance carrier" to repay you for a lost handkerchief or kitchen towel or pair of old blue jeans.

Only once did I ever report a laundry loss, and strangely enough that was about blankets too. Not 1700, but 4, which seemed like a lot to me, being all the heavy winter blankets I owned.

I'd sent them off in May to be washed and stored for the summer, but in the late fall, when I needed them, the laundry insisted they had been returned. I said no; the laundry said yes—and the weather got colder.

So cold, in fact, that I couldn't wait for my insurance company to complete its own little inquiry and was delighted when they said to buy a new set and send along the bill.

I didn't stay delighted for long. A week after the fluffy new ones arrived, my, contrite laundry informed me the old batch had turned up on some top shelf under a stack of drapes and they'd send them right over.

I told my insurance man. He sent back my bill—unpaid. Stores can't take back used bedding. I now have eight heavy-weight winter blankets.

And what gets me down the most is that, as everybody knows, our winters just aren't as cold as they used to be!

State Construction Council Approves 50 Million Highway Program for '54

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state highway construction council has approved the highway department's 50 million dollar 1954 construction program.

The approval paves the way for spending 60 million dollars from the highway construction and bond retirement fund. Some 30 million dollars will be provided in matching funds from federal and local sources.

The council visited all proposed major projects and many of the smaller ones before announcing its decision yesterday. It said Highway Director S. O. Linzell's recommendations were "well conceived."

Ohio voters approved a 500 million dollar bond issue for highway improvements Nov. 3. Council members said the full amount of the bond issue would not cover all state highway needs on the major thoroughfare system so a priority schedule was drawn up based on the following points:

1. Sufficiency ratings or adequacy of a road to carry a given volume of traffic.
2. Future adequacy of improvements.
3. Continuous improvement along entire length of important routes.
4. Traffic volume.
5. Emergency conditions such as sharp curves or narrow bridges.
6. Geographical distribution of projects.
7. National defense needs.
8. Balances of expenditures such as between rural and urban areas.
9. Full use of matching funds.
10. Relative right-of-way expense.
11. Cooperation of governmental agencies and people involved.

Urgent or "A" priority projects to be let for contract in 1954 include:

Hancock and Allen counties, 9.8 miles of U.S. 25, north of Beaverdam to 2.5 miles north of Bluffton. Bluffton by-pass. New four lane divided and two lane pavement.

Wire Tapping Approval Seen By Sen. Potter

Thinks Congress Will Pass Law Authorizing Its Use in Spy Trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Ferguson of the Senate Republican Policy Committee predicted today Congress will legalize the use in spy trials of evidence obtained by telephone wiretapping.

"A proper bill can be worked out and passed, protecting both the inalienable rights of citizens and the welfare of the nation," the Michigan senator said in an interview.

McCarran Pessimistic.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) also said he thinks some such law will be enacted, but Sen. McCarran of Nevada, senior Democratic member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, rated present chances as doubtful.

Atty. Gen. Brownell has announced he plans to ask Congress to permit the use of such evidence in trials under certain conditions. The idea reportedly was discussed during President Eisenhower's conferences with Republican Congress leaders at the White House last week.

Federal law does not prohibit wire tapping by federal officers but it does forbid the use of such evidence in a trial court. The rule has been interpreted to block the use of evidence uncovered as the result of "leads" produced by wire tapping.

Controversial Issue

The issue is hotly controversial. It has been before Congress before, but Ferguson said he thinks this time "the administration and Congress can work out a bill keeping in mind our historical background" that would satisfy most opponents of the idea.

Ferguson declined to say what the administration might propose along that line. He emphasized that he was expressing only his views as a senator and former judge.

The courts, he said, now allow search and seizure practices to obtain evidence from private premises. As "the guardians of constitutional institutions," he said, it is the courts which also should determine when wire tapping to uncover crimes against the nation's security should be permitted.

Presumably, he was referring to the suggestion often-made that federal officers be allowed to introduce such evidence only if they first get a U.S. court's permission to tap the lines.

McCarran's View

McCarran, in a separate interview, spoke much less confidently of prospects for approval of such a bill. He is an advocate of limited use of wire-tapping to convict subversives. He indicated that he has very definite views on what safeguards would be necessary and will discuss them only when and if the matter comes before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He said he believes there is "very serious question" whether the most carefully-drawn bill could muster enough votes to pass both Senate and House next year.

Yuletide Rush Is History

AN EMPTY CARRIER case greeted regular letter carrier Robert S. Bales of 926 Merkel Ave. at the postoffice Thursday noon. It was a definite contrast to the preceeding few weeks when regular and extra postal employes were in the process of handling what is believe to be the biggest Christmas mail load in Marion's history. The rush was over by noon Thursday and today only a slight flow of Christmas mail was coming in from postoffices in other cities. Some 70 extra workers were employed during the rush, but only five were on duty today. They helped out on some routes where there was a heavy load, composed of some Christmas mail and magazine deliveries.

Man Arrested After Attacking Two Officers

3 Charges Filed; Police List Seven Accidents; One Occurs in County

One man was arrested following one of seven minor, no injury traffic accidents reported in the city and county over Christmas by Marion police and the Marion County Sheriff's office.

Charges of resisting arrest, intoxication, and disorderly conduct were filed against Alvin Slob, 43, of 246 Leader St. following an accident in front of his residence shortly before 5:45 p.m. yesterday.

Police were called to investigate the accident and Patrolmen Leo L. Harvey and William L. Drollinger arrived a few minutes later.

They learned that a car backing out of the driveway at Slob's residence and driven by Larry Hinton of 111 Latourette St. was involved in an accident with another car.

Before they could complete their investigation, Slob pushed them both back off the lawn in front of his house into the street. He then told them they did not know what they were doing and called them names, the patrolmen reported.

With this they started to place him under arrest on a disorderly conduct charge and Slob swung at both of them, they said. Some 20 minutes later they succeeded in placing handcuffs on Slob, but not before both had their uniforms torn and dirtied and their faces and hands were cut and bruised. Both officers went to City Hospital for treatment of their injuries, they reported.

Because of the struggle they were unable to complete their report of the accident and did not list who the driver or owner of the other car was or whether or not it was damaged.

Later at the police station, Slob posted a $250 bond for his appearance in Municipal Court Monday on the three charges.

Two of the remaining six accidents weer hit-skips, both of which occurred shortly after 7 p.m Thursday. At about 7 p.m. a car owned by Dana Brookover of Audubon, Ia. parked on Van Buren St. was damaged on the left side when struck by an unidentified car. Brookover reported the accident at 7:27 p.m.

At the same time, 7:27 p.m. Thursday, another car parked in front of his residence and owned by Benjamin Lenavitt of 125 E. Columbia St. was struck by an unidentified car. The left rear fender of Lenavitt's car was damaged. Police are investigating both hit-skit accidents.

The left rear fender and bumper of a car driven by Bert B. er of a car driven by Bret B. and the front of a car driven by Seymour Bibbee, 59, of 229 Pennsylvania Ave. were damaged in a mishap at Prospect and W. Center Sts. at 10:50 a.m. yesterday. Both were headed west on W. Center St., police said.

A collision at Van Buren and Jefferson Sts. at 5:12 p.m. Thursday caused damage to cars driven by Raymond M. Burkhard, 36, of 632 Polk St. and William C. Scranton, 62, of 199 Patten St. Burkhard was driving south on Jefferson St. and Scranton east on Van Buren St., police said.

Cars driven by James S. Weist, 16, of near LaRue and Herbert Tolle, 28, of 1147 Bennett St. were damaged in a mishap at W. Center St. and Park Blvd. at 4:35 p.m. Thursday. Weist was traveling north and Tolle south on Park Blvd., police reported.

The rear end of a car driven by Samuel C. Ward, 20, of 153 Barnhart St. was damaged when struck by another car driven by Mrs. Edna S. Giles of near Caledonia at E. Center St. and Pennsylvania Ave. at 1:27 p.m. Thursday. The front of Mrs. Giles' car was also damaged, police said.

FIRE HITS INN

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Furnishings were destroyed in the main dining room of the Granville Inn here yesterday in a fire estimated to have caused $50,000 damage.

Auto Pilferings Continue; $220 In Items Stolen

Two more cases of pilfering of parked cars in the city with some $220 worth of various items stolen were reported today by Marion police. This pushed the total of cars pilfered in the city since Tuesday night to seven.

Some $170 worth of Christmas presents were stolen from City Councilman Harold Fralich's car while it was parked at the rear of Alber's Supermarket on E. Center St. between 11:15 and 12 midnight Christmas Eve.

Fralich said he parked his car there and locked it while he went to a nearby church to pick up his wife. When he returned he found the left front window broken out and all the Christmas packages stolen. Included in the packages were toys, clothing, food, candy, kitchen and household utensils.

A short time earlier, at 11:41 p.m., Corbett Blanton of near Marion went to the police station and reported his car was entered while it was parked at the rear of the Sears and Roebuck Store a few minutes earlier and various items worth some $52 were stolen.

He said he returned to the car about 11:35 p.m. and as he approached saw another car pull away at a high rate of speed.

When he got to his car he found the trunk open and a spare wheel and tire, tools, and two jacks missing. Also, a toy truck had been taken from inside his car, he said. There were a number of other items inside the car which were not bothered, he added.

Mamie's Gown Popular With Museum Goers

WASHINGTON (UP) — Mamie Eisenhower ignored tradition when she sent her inaugural dress to the Smithsonian Institution before she'd been in the White House a year, but the curators are delighted.

The spangly ball gown, in Mrs. Eisenhower's favorite pink will go on display in the museums' collection of first ladies' costumes.

Many of the gowns, like Mrs. Eisenhower's, were designed for inaugural functions. But Mrs. Eisenhower is the first to part with hers while still in the White House, and the museum is in part responsible.

The Smithsonian made a direct appeal to the first lady. The curators suggested that the 3,000,000 tourists who visit the Smithsonian each year would like to see an outfit once worn by the current White House occupant. The gown display is second in visitor popularity, only to "The Spirit of St. Louis," the plane in which Charles A. Lindbergh flew the Atlantic.

Mrs. Eisenhower's inaugural gown will join the exhibit about the time the display acquires a "new look."

At present, the first lady gowns are arranged stiffly in glass-enclosed threesomes reminiscent of Mme. Tussaud's wax museum.

The Smithsonian plans to put the display in eight period rooms against an authentic White House background, made possible by a gift of historic pieces discarded from the executive mansion during the recent remodeling.

Included are marble fireplaces from the Franklin Pierce, Ulysses S. Grant and Theodore Roosevelt days, furniture and wood paneling from the state parlors.

The museum also has gold furniture used in the Blue Room for 75 years, an oriental rug presented to Martin Van Buren by the Iman of Muscat, and Martha Washington's tea table.

Mrs. Eisenhower's gown will be displayed in the largest of the eight rooms—a reproduction of the East Room, with original paneling, mantle and mirror. Here, too, will be the famous gold piano that stood in the big ballroom for many years.

In this room, too, will be Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's peach-toned ball gown for the third inauguration, and the silver-gray brocade Mrs. Bess Truman wore in the 1949 inaugural ball.

It will take six months for the Smithsonian sculptor, A. Joseph Andrews, to prepare the plaster figure on which Mrs. Eisenhower's gown will be displayed. He hopes Mrs. Eisenhower will volunteer her measurements. He had to get Mrs. Truman's from her dressmaker. Andrews will carve Mrs. Eisenhower's bangs from photographs.

Mrs. Eisenhower's gown, designed by Nettie Rosenstein, is of pink peau de soie, a sheer silk and is sprinkled with 2,000 sequins in pink, rose and mauve.

TWO DRIVERS ARRESTED

Two traffic arrests were reported by Marion police. Lewis E. Ulery, 49, of 652 Lee St. was charged with having insufficient brakes on his car and Paul H. Longworth, 40, of 499 Reed Ave. was charged with speeding 45 miles an hour. Both are to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Between 1935 and 1940 about five per cent of the population of the United States moved to other states while between 1940 and 1947 about 10 per cent of the people moved to other states.

the theatrical lustre of Broadway by building many of their own theaters. Shortly before World War II the two surviving Shuberts, Lee and J. J., leased or managed half of more than 40 legitimate theaters on the "Great White Way." They also controlled 15 show-places in other cities.

Lee was president of the theatrical organization, with J. J. acting as general manager. In his later years, Lee left to J. J. the business of producing shows, and concentrated on the financial aspects of the organization.

Lee is survived by his wife, the former Marcella Swanson, whom he married a few years ago. It was his only marriage.

Funeral services will be held Monday (2 p.m., EST) in Temple Emanuel. Place of interment was not immediately announced.

The Vietminh forces started their thrust from the rebel-held coastal area of North Annam. Indochina is only about 100 miles across at this point.

Hard Fighting

The French said hard fighting was in progress in the jungle along Colonial Rt 12, a main road connecting Annam with the Mekong River. This would place the rebels about 100 miles south of the area they overran last year in their first assault against Laotian territory.

(Unconfirmed reports in Bangkok said, however, that other Vietminh troops had opened a surprise attack on Luang Prabang, the seat of Laotian King Sisavang Vong's royal residence. Luang Prabang, one of the targets of the previous Vietminh invasion, is more than 200 miles north of Thakhek.)

French spokesmen expressed hope that with reinforcements and fresh supplies the French Union forces would be able to chop off the Vietminh spearheads as the rebels extend their lines of communication.

Also to be put together here is the television and radio report he will make to the nation Jan. 4 on the administration program thus far. He also will outline future goals.

Eisenhower was accompanied from Washington by only a small White House staff, but other aides and perhaps some members of his Cabinet will join him in a few days.

The scene last night at Eisenhower cottage recently completed at the golf club was typical of the Christmas scene in thousands of other American homes.

In the center of the spacious living room was a gaily decorated Christmas tree. Beneath it were the family gifts, several of them still unopened.

Youngsters Get Attention

And as everywhere where there are youngsters on Christmas, Eisenhower grandchildren got most of the attention.

Five-year-old David had a wonderful time showing his grandfather a new set of shiny junior size golf clubs. The President remarked that David's game was not all that could be expected, but predicted it would improve.

Four-year-old Barbara Anne and two-year-old Susan spent most of the time admiring new dolls while David chatted with his grandfather—he calls the President Ike—about golf.

of obstructing the explanations.

The repatriation commission's ruling agreed with the U.N. Command position—that the truce agreement set a 90-day period available for interviews rather than specifying 90 days of actual interviews.

The Czech and Polish statement said:

"Not only the entire spirit of the terms of reference (prisoner agreement) but their explicit provisions grant both sides the right to conduct explanations for the whole period of 90 days. . .

'Serious Violations'

"The decision by the majority . . . amounts to a very serious violation of the terms of reference of the Korean armistice agreement.

"The Czechoslovak and Polish delegations are strongly opposing such violation of international agreements and can never agree to an arbitrary interpretation as if explanations to the prisoners of war . . . had been carried out. . ."

The Reds asked the commission again Saturday for more explanations, Peiping said. However, there was no indication the commission would change its stand.

Of about 22,600 anti-Red Chinese and North Koreans who refused to return to their Communist homelands, the Reds interviewed 3,224 and won back 127.

U.N. Interviews 250

The U.N. Command interviewed 250 South Koreans of the unrepatriated 359 former Allied soldiers. But none returned. They did not interview any of the 23 Americans or one Briton turned over. One American came back to the U.N. side before the interviews.

The 22 remaining Americans and the Briton celebrated Christmas Friday in their camp in the neutral zone. There was no indication any of them might change their decision against coming home.

Under the armistice terms, all prisoners who haven't returned by Jan. 22 are to be released as civilians.

the farmers' language and his appointment as agriculture director was a popular one. A man of the soil, he couldn't wait to get back to his farm after work in the State Office Bldg. in Columbus.

Foust was also an athlete. He was a member of the Plain City state championship basketball team in 1911 and played football, baseball and basketball at Ohio State University where he was awarded a degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine in 1915. Following graduation he enlisted in the Veterinary Corps in World War I and served 17 months at Camp Lee, Va.

Foust was named assistant director of agriculture in January 1949. That job also involved managing the state fair. Then, when A. W. Marion was promoted from agriculture director to head of the natural resources department six months later, Foust became director.

Made Fair Pay

He put the fair on a self-supporting basis. When he started managing it in 1949 the fair was supported by legislative appropriations. Faced with a $15,000 deficit in 1949, Foust took only two years to put things on a pay-as-you go basis.

Foust is survived by his widow, the former Ruth Reiber, a graduate nurse whom he married after the death of his first wife, Effie Converse Foust of Plain City two sons, Howard S. Jr. of Plain City and Jack of Champaign County; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Ann Weber of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. Iva Dunham of Amlin, and seven grandchildren.

Wyandot County Dairy Unit To Hold Banquet

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Dairymen attending the annual dairy banquet to be held at McCutchenville High School Jan. 7, will hear a talk by William C. Craig, head of the department of speech at Wooster College.

The banquet will be sponsored by the Wyandot County Dairy Service Unit.

Other features of the program will include entertaining skits by local dairymen, instrumental and vocal music, according to John Heckathron, president of the service unit.

Skunks Discouraged

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Connecticut agricultural experiment station says skunks will rid your lawn of Japanese beetles—but they'll rid you of your lawn at the same time by tearing it up to get at the beetle grubs.

A better system, the agricultural experts say, is to use the insecticide chlordane. That kills the grubs and discourages the skunks by leaving them no grubs to eat.

Sparks From Auto Bumper Blamed in Fire on Roadway

Sparks from a dragging rear bumper of a car were blamed for a fire on Route 30-N near Marion Thursday.

The Marion County Sheriff's department reported that sparks from a rear dumper which had dropped off and was hanging by one bolt on a car driven by James Foust of near Upper Sandusky set some grass on fire and spread to a fence owned by T. L. Huntsman of near Marion.

Foust, driving a car owned by Ideal Motors of E. Center St., was westbound when he noticed sparks flying from the rear of his auto in his rear vision mirror and stopped the car.

The Marion Fire Department was called at 5:40 p.m. to extinguish the fire. There was no damage.

Local Gas Stations Win Prizes for Decorations

Filling stations operated by Marion brothers won first and second prizes in district and state decoration contest sponsored by the Shell Oil Co.

The station of William (Bill) Young at E. Center and Barnhart, which featured a Santa Claus, won the $75 prize for being best in the state and another $25 for best in district. The station of Robert (Bob) Young at N. Main and George, won second prize in both contests—checks for $50 and $15. It featured snow men.

Officers Help Seven-Year-Old Enjoy Yuletide

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Santa Claus wore a blue uniform for 7-year-old Ralph Gonzales Christmas morning.

Ralph was picked up by police because he threw a rock through the windshield of Mrs. Russell Trout's car as she drove through the neighborhood where Ralph lives.

Blue-clad officers who investigated found Ralph's home without heat. His father was in the hospital undergoing an operation. His mother was sick in bed. All Ralph got for Christmas was a toy water pistol.

"He was clean." Sgt. Walter Coleman said. "But his clothes were ragged and his toes were sticking out of the ends of his shoes."

Coleman lectured the boy on the hazards of throwing rocks. Ralph told Sgt. Coleman he was throwing the rock at another boy and missed.

Coleman and Sgt. Albert Swallow then fed the boy turkey and pumpkin pie from the traffic office.

Other officers went to their cars to get toys they planned to give their own children: a toy motorcycle, a fire engine and a midget police car like the one Ralph rode to the station in. They gave him the toys.

Then they passed the hat and got $1.50. That wasn't enough to pay for Mrs. Trout's broken windshield. But Mrs. Trout said she would pay for it herself.

"I guess that kid threw a lucky rock," Sgt. Coleman said.

5 Hurt in Crash At Cardington

Three-Car Collision Reported by Patrol

Mrs. Juanita Sparks of Cardington suffered a fractured ankle and severe lacerations early Christmas morning in a three-car collision in Morrow County.

Four others received minor injuries in the accidents which occurred at 3:30 a.m. on Route 42 about three miles south of Cardington.

Mrs. Sparks was treated at Morrow County Hospital where her condition was reported as good this morning. The others were released after treatment.

Mrs. Sparks' husband, Sam Sparks, 40, received lacerations of the face and head. They were passengers in a car driven by David P. Kanable, 27, of near Cardington, who received a cut on the forehead and a bruised chest.

A Cleveland couple were the other persons injured. They were William C. Maynard, 38, who received a bump on the head and chest injuries, and his wife, Elizabeth, who received back and hip injuries. Their car, driven by Maynard, was demolished.

According to the state highway patrol Maynard was driving south following a car driven by Siles McCuller, 42, of Cleveland. Kanable, who was heading north, apparently got over on the wrong side of the road and McCuller went to the left side of the highway to avoid colliding with him, th patrol said.

Knable went back on his side of the road, hit McCuller and then veered off, hitting Maynard, the patrol reported. The cars were extensively damaged.

DEPENDABLE FOR OVER 87 YEARS

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

A large percentage of the small homes, built during the past 10 years, are one and one-half story structures with crawl-spaces under the house and attics which can be finished off at the owner's will.

Many of these have openings in the foundation walls which are closed by some type of grille or latticework panels, and most of them have the heating pipes exposed beneath the floor. As a result of this arrangement there is a great loss of heating energy. The owners wonder why the house cannot be kept comfortable during cold weather and why the floors seem so chilly. The plain answer is that the heating plant is trying to warm all outdoors instead of confining its energy to the enclosed area of the house.

All openings beneath a house must be closed up for the winter. The job is very simple and consists merely of cutting panels of plywood, or other weatherproof wallboard, which can be properly fastened with screws to the frame around the opening as shown by the illustration. When screws or catches are used, the panels can be removed when warm weather returns and the panels stored away for use the following year.

When the area beneath a house is tightly closed up the exposed heating lines will warm it and the lines themselves will not be chilled. Another benefit is that this heated area beneath the house will make the floors more comfortable and they in turn will have the same effect on all the rooms above them.

The homeowner, who does not want to go to the trouble of measuring and fitting solid panels, will find that the new plastic sheets, now being used in place of storm sash, are extremely effective for closing foundation openings.

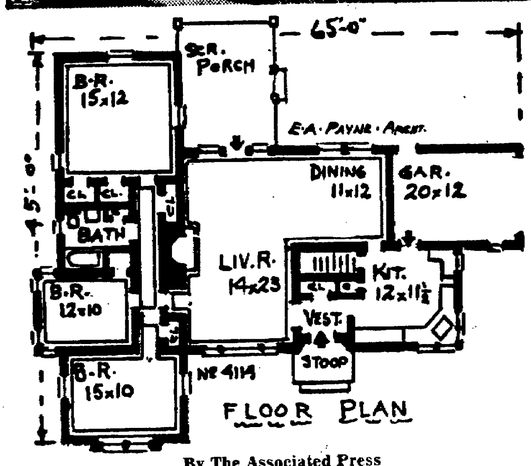
House With Low Lines



By The Associated Press

LONG, LOW LINES distinguish this perennially popular one-story layout with sleeping quarters secluded in one wing. Problems that often arise in so-called ranch style designs are cleverly solved in this plan. Although the kitchen is conveniently located at one side of the front entrance vestibule, it still has a service door into the garage and the basement stairs are nearby. This is Plan 4114 by Edgar A. Payne, architect, 710 Willard St., Galesburg, Ill. The house covers 1,790 square feet, including garage.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q. Last fall we remodelled our kitchen, building the cupboards over the stove, the refrigerator, etc. The cupbboards over the stove are 22 inches above the cooking top. We now find that the shellac is blistering on the bottom of the cupboards from steam and heat. Is there anything I can do to prevent this?

A. You may be able to obtain better results by finishing the underside of the cabinets with a top quality of quick-drying varnish. Of course, all of the old shellac will have to be removed first. I suspect that the cause for this condition is that the cabinets over the stove are too deep, extending pretty well over all the burners. It would be better if the cabinets in the area were no more than 14 inches deep. Another solution is to install a ventilating hood on the underside of the cabinets having the exhaust fan carry off the heat and fumes to the outdoors by means of a duct.

Browns, Lions Set for Championship Clash Sunday

Cleveland Squad Favored To Shatter Jinx at Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns were set for final drills today in preparation for the "big one" tomorrow when the championship of the National Football League will be decided on the frozen turf of Briggs Stadium.

Will the Lions, defending champions and kings of the Western Division, carry Coach Buddy Parker off the field in triumph? Or will the Cleveland club do all the happy rough-housing after the game?

The oddsmakers have installed Coach Paul Brown's powerful array of pigskin-toters as 5½ point favorites. This was done mainly on the strength of the passing arm of Brownie quarterback Otto Graham, the line-crashing of fullbacks Marion Motley and Harry Jagade and the place kicking of Lou (The Toe) Groza.

But Brown is not counting his Lions before they are skinned. The Detroit team has met Cleveland seven times in the past and six times the Lions walked off the field with victories, settling for a tie in the other meeting earlier this year.

"We played these guys once before this year, remember, and we know they're tough," Brown says.

Both squads went through brief morning workouts yesterday.

Following Detroit drill, the players found six $5 bills hanging on a locker room Christmas tree for each of them.

Detroit will depend on the passing of Bobby Layne and the running of Doak Walker and Bobby Hoernschemeyer in a bid to retain the crown.

Brown and his Clevelanders were scheduled for an afternoon workout at Briggs Stadium. They were scheduled to arrive here by train this morning.

The game will be carried on a national (Dumont) television hookup with the kickoff scheduled for 1 p. m. EST.

South Defense Paves Way to North's Defeat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"Our quarterbacks hardly had a chance to raise their arms," said Purdue Coach Stu Holcomb, whose North team lost 20-0 in the Shrine's North-South College All-Star football game last night.

"That South line was really fired up," he continued. "They outcharged us all night."

Although quarterback Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia set up all three South scores with his passing and punting, it was devastating defensive play which really made things rough for the North.

Crawford Mims, an All America guard from Mississippi; Tom Miner, a big quick Tulsa end; Ed Meadows, a battering-ram tackle from Duke; and Ed Merrifield, an alert, pint-sized halfback from Missouri played terrific defensive games.

Mims was voted the outstanding player in the game by sportswriters.

Merrifield, only 5-7½, intercepted 2 passes by Illinois' Elry Falkenstein, 1 on the 11 and the other at the 3, and ran them back for a total of 30 yards. He also helped break up several others.

Mims, Meadows and Miner led the hard-charging Rebels in a continual harrassment of North ball carriers. Holcomb had predicted his team would display a powerful ground game, but the North wound up with a minus 14 yards rushing.

The South, coached by Andy Gustafson of Miami, collected 88 yards on the ground and 120 on Bratkowski passes. The North got 119 yards on passes by Falkenstein and Purdue's Roy Evans.

A crowd of 44,715, a record for the game, saw Brat complete only 6 of 17, but 2 of them were long heaves to Georgia teammate John Carson and led to touchdowns.

South Is Favored In Blue-Gray Battle

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Unless the stars are wrong today, the 15th annual Blue-Gray football shindig looks like another wide open, free scoring affair.

As usual the experts are picking the South, but they've got their fingers crossed. The kickoff is at 1:30 p. m. CST.

The Yankees can explode for touchdowns with little or no provocation, both on the ground and in the air, as they have during practice this week.

The usual quota of professional scouts were on hand to look the All-Stars over as prospects for the pro draft next year.

They'll be watching such players as the Rebels' passing whiz kids, Jackie Parker of Mississippi State, Don Ellis of Texas A. & M., and Lamar McHan of Arkansas.

Yankee aerialists Tony Rados of Penn State and Don Rydalch of Utah are equally gifted at tossing.

One Accident in County

One no-injury traffic accident was reported over the Christmas holiday by the Marion County Sheriff's department.

A car driven by Calvin Eugene Alexander, 18, of 744 Creston Ave. was damaged in the front end when it struck a General Telephone Co. pole at Fairground St. and Bartram Ave. Friday at 11 a.m.

Alexander was traveling north on Bartram Ave. and failed to make the turn onto Fairground St., going across Fairground St. and striking the pole.

Buckeye Cagers Meet Conquerors of Indiana

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Oregon State's basketball team headed by 7-foot, 3-inch "Swede" Halbrook, plays a smaller Ohio State squad before an expected 5,000 tonight in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Oregon State has a 5-1 record; OSU has won four and lost one. OSC boasts a victory over Indiana, ranked first among the nation's college teams in The Associated Press poll.

A HUNTER'S DREAM

SUPERIOR, Neb. (AP) — John Meier had just returned from a dee hunt in Wyoming, happy at having bagged his one-deer limit. When he looked out the window of his home he saw a 200-pound deer walking across his yard. The animal sauntered through two neighboring yards, jumped a fence and disappeared toward the east city limits.

St. Mary Opens Yearly Holiday Event Monday

St. Mary plays host to Elm Valley, Radnor and Lexington at its annual holiday basketball carnival, which opens a two-night stand at the Coliseum Monday.

All four teams played in last year's event with Lexington walking off with the championship.

Lexington plays its first game in defense of the title when it meets Radnor in the first game Monday night. St. Mary takes on Elm Valley in the second contest of the evening.

Monday night's winners will play for the title in the main event Tuesday night with the previous evening's losers meeting in the preliminary game.

Each night the first game gets underway at 7:30 with the second game starting about 9.

The Carnival winner will receive a trophy and the runner-up will get the ball used in the championship game.

St. Mary walked off with the first two Carnival championships, nosing out Claridon, Pleasant and Morral in 1950 and Radnor, Elm Valley and Sulpher Springs in 1951.

However, the Irish finished runner-up to Lexington last year when the Richland County crew made its first appearance in the tourney.

There will be no advance sale of tickets. Ticket prices have been set at 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

UCLA, Spartans Resume Drills For Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—After a lull in workouts over the Christmas season, Michigan State and UCLA settled back today to the serious business of preparing for their Rose Bowl football meeting New Year's Day.

The UCLA team members, the majority of them from the Los Angeles area, were allowed to leave the campus to spend the holiday with their families.

Michigan State staged a brief workout yesterday morning — "mostly to keep the boys from thinking too much of home," according to Coach Biggie Munn.

MSC was to cut back to one-a-day workouts today. The single session was set for the afternoon.

UCLA, idle over Christmas, also planned an afternoon practice period today.

The Rose Bowl Committee held its official Christmas party for the MSC team at the Hotel Huntington last night. Members of the squad and official party watched a two-hour long vaudeville show and then were presented with gifts of binoculars.

As a special award, firemen's hats were given nine team members who helped battle a fire in the Hotel Huntington a week ago.

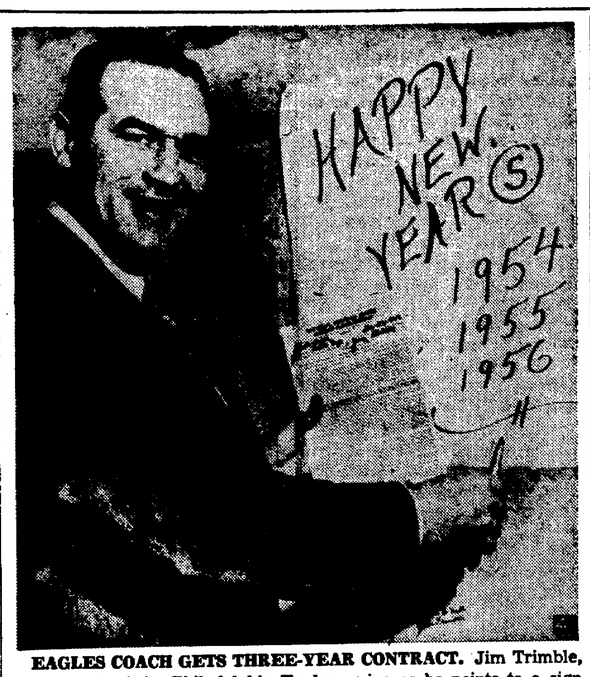
Alabama May Lose No. 2 Signal Caller

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The injury and possible loss for the Rice game of Albert Elmore, No. 2 Alabama quarterback, hit the team a solid blow on the eve of its departure for the Cotton Bowl today.

The clever Troy, Ala., quarterback was hurt in a collision a few miles from Troy as he hitch hiked home Christmas Eve for a brief holiday.

He suffered a bruise above his right eye and a deep flesh wound above his right knee in a collision between the car in which he was riding and a truck. Two other occupants of the car were hurt.

Doctors said they feared the leg injury won't heal in time for Elmore to play in the Rice game Jan. 1.



EAGLES COACH GETS THREE-YEAR CONTRACT. Jim Trimble, head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, grins as he points to a sign indicating the three years on the three-year contract which he has signed with the National Football League team. Trimble had been working under one-year contracts since he replaced Wayne Millner on Sept. 9, 1952.

Indiana Idle

17 Holiday Cage Tourneys Feature Top-Flight Quintets

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the 17 holiday basketball tournaments, bringing together 112 hand-picked college teams on courts from New York to Porteals, N.M., get underway today with action in New York, Kansas City and Hempstead, N.Y.

Top ranked Indiana and second rated Kentucky, winner of its own tournament earlier in the week, will sit out the holiday court carnivals but six members of the top 10 add flavor to five of the tourneys.

Unbeaten Duquesne (3) is the favorite for the second annual cage festival opening at Madison Square Garden today. The Oklahoma Aggies (5) are the choice in the All-College event starting in Oklahoma City Monday.

Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers (6), also undefeated, figure to be the team to beat in the Louisville Invitational which opens Monday. North Carolina State (9) is one of the choices for the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, Dec. 28-30. And Fordham (7) and Holy Cross (10) are in the Sugar Bowl Tournament.

Duquesne meets New York University (4-1) in the first round at the Garden tonight. La Salle (6-2), featuring All-America Tom Gola, goes against a crippled St.Louis team in the nightcap.

Before they take the floor at night, Brigham Young (7-0) meets Manhattan (3-3) and Niagara (5-1) plays St. John's of Brooklyn (13-2).

Kansas State is the choice in the Big Seven affair, which brings together all members of the conference plus the University of Washington. Kansas meets Colorado and Missouri goes against Iowa State in today's play.

The tournament at Hofstra in Hempstead brings into action several of the East's top small colleges. The field includes favored Lafayette, defending champions Cortland Teachers, American University, Hofstra, Delaware, Wagner, Lehigh and Wesleyan.

The Dixie Classic shapes up as one of the best of the holiday season. In addition to North Carolina State, the field includes Oregon State, recent conqueror of Indiana, Navy, North Carolina, Seton Hall, Duke, Tulane and Wake Forest.

The Oklahoma Aggies line up against Furman, Oklahoma City, Mississippi, Wyoming, Cincinnati, Santa Clara and Tulsa. And at Louisville, Western Kentucky sends its high scoring five against a field that includes Louisville, Eastern Kentucky, Murray, Siena, Villanova, Houston and Xavier (Ohio).

The All-American at Owensboro, which doesn't start until Dec. 30, brings together Maryland, South Carolina, Arizona State, Evansville, Tennessee, Denver, St.Francis (N.Y.) and Kentucky Wesleyan.

All of the Southwest Conference members with Alabama as the invited guest take part in the Houston jamboree.

Feeding Expert To Talk To Wyandot Swinemen

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Wilbur Clouse of Fostoria will discuss feeding and winter management of swine at the first winter educational meeting to be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 4, in the assembly room of the Wyandot County courthouse.

Clouse, who has charge of the Ohio Farmers' Grain and Supply Co. Swine Feeding Station, located near Fostoria, is a graduate of Purdue University.

The meeting, sponsored by the Hog Improvement Association in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service is slated for 1:30 p.m.

North Carolina State was the first Southern Conference team to play in the National Invitational basketball tournament. The Wolfpack made its initial tourney appearance in 1947.

Drake Scoring Ace Discloses Bribe Attempts

DES MOINES (AP)—Ben Bumbry, star Drake University basketball forward who said he was approached to "fix" the score of the recent Drake-Iowa State game, also spoke for a teammate when he told the individual "no dice." Details of the attempted bribe were disclosed yesterday.

Bumbry said he was approached by a young man who "mentioned $300 one time and $500 another time." The St. Louis senior said the man wanted Drake to lose the game, played Tuesday night, by at least eight points, preferrably by 10.

Bumbry said he told the man "no dice" and when the man mentioned Willis Cerf, Drake's sophomore center from Los Angeles, he told him, "I don't think Cerf will do anything like that."

Bumbry declined an offer to meet the man later "if I changed my mind." He reported the incident to Jack McClelland, Drake coach and athletic director, who notified authorities.

Bumbry said he didn't know if the man, who has been questioned by police but is not being held, approached Cerf.

Police said they doubt if there is enough evidence to prosecute the man, identified as a "young Des Moines business man." It was indicated the case would be turned over to the Polk County attorney's office when police finish their investigation.

Under a new Iowa law, attempting to influence an athletic contest by bribery carries a possible penalty of up to a $10,000 fine and as much as 10 years in prison.

Ex-Major League Manager, 88, Dies

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP)—Patrick J. (Patsy) Donovan, 88—who managed five major league baseball teams, totaled more than 2,000 hits in his 15-year career and had a lifetime batting average of .301—died yesterday.

He often claimed in later years that he was instrumental in bringing Babe Ruth to the Boston Red Sox in 1914 through friendship with one of the Catholic Xaverian Brothers who coached Ruth at a Baltimore orphanage.

A native of County Cork, Ireland, Donovan broke into organized baseball in 1886 with Lawrence of the ol' New England League and went on to a long and notable career in the majors.

Donovan managed the Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Nationals, Washington, Brooklyn and the Boston Red Sox, as well as Jersey City and Buffalo in the International League.

Barons Will Resume Play Sunday on Coliseum Rink

The Marion Barons will resume action Sunday at the Coliseum against the Louisville Stars after a week-long layoff. Last action for the Marion hockey team was last Sunday when it whipped Johnstown 8-1.

The Barons will be shooting to better their league standing which currently is a tie for third place with the Troy Bruins for fourth place. Each of the Ohio teams have 32 points. Grand Rapids and Toledo are knotted for third place with 33 points while Johnstown holds down second with 36. Cincinnati's Mohawks climbed to the top rung yesterday with a 2-0 win over Toledo. They have 37 points.

Kenny Schultz and Gordie Vejprava will be seeking to better their standings in the league scoring derby against the Shooting Stars. Schultz ranks sixth in the league with 40 points accumulated on 20 goalts and 20 assists. Vejprava, is tied for the lead in goals with 23, but has notched only 15 assists to give him eighth in the standings with 38 points.

Both Marion skaters will be shooting at the second weakest defense in the IHL. A total of 140 goals have been scored against the Stars in 30 games. Only one team, last-place Milwaukee, has allowed its opponents' more. That team has watched the foe score 144 times.

Only 96 goals have been scored against the Barons to place them in a third-place tie in the defensive standings. The Barons also rank third in the number of goals scored with 119.

Previews of the Coming Attractions at the Local Theaters

TONY MARTIN ATTEMPTS to smooth over a romantic difficulty with Esther Williams in the above scene from the new technicolor musical, "Easy to Love," which will be the attraction Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater. Van Johnson also is starred.

'Man Crazy' One of Two Ohio Theater Features

A double feature, "Man Crazy" starring Neville Brand, Christine White, Irene Anders, Coleen Miller and John Brown, and "Captain John Smith and Pocahontas" with Anthony Dexter and Jody Lawrence, will be the attraction Sunday through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater.

In the former which deals with experiences of teen-agers, three girls make their way to Hollywood on stolen funds. They quarrel about the money and conflict, jealousy and hatred develop among them. Finally, each girl must pay for her mistake.

The love story of Captain John Smith and Pocahontas and of John Rolfe, the gentleman colonist who married the beautiful Indian girl after John Smith had left her, is told in the latter picture.

Starting Thursday for the New Year's Eve attraction and the New Year's Day feature is the adventure-rama in 3-D and color, and introducing Geraldinge Page.

An added attraction will be "Mickey's Birthday Party," featuring six favorite Mickey Mouse cartoons in observance of the 25th anniversary of the origination of Mickey Mouse.

"Hondo" is the story of a man who kills an outlaw and then must travel to tell the man's widow. Forced to fight in a gun battle not of his choosing, Wayne kills the outlaw and then takes off through desert and mountain wilderness to reach the man's wife who had been deserted in hostile Apache territory. He finds her, falls in love and then must tell her of his deed.

Esther Williams Stars In Palace Theater Film

A new technicolor musical, "Easy to Love," starring Esther Williams, Van Johnson and Tony Martin, will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

"Easy to Love" is the story of a water-skiing star who finds herself deep in man trouble. As the queen of a Cypress Gardens, Fla., water-ski ballet, Esther Williams is willing to abdicate in favor of romance.

She wants something warmer than a business arrangement with her boss, played by Van Johnson, but gets nowhere fast. Tony Martin is the New York night club singer who tries to catch her on the rebound but whose ardour becomes somewhat dampened when Van Johnson becomes aroused and takes him on a hectic and frenzied motorboat chase.

In the climax of the picture, Esther is towed over a 12-foot jump by a helicopter to an altitude of 75 feet, from which she dives into the middle of a horseshoe formed by 100 skiers.

Billed for Thursday only and continuing as a New Year's Eve show until 2 a.m. Friday will be the laugh film, "Money From Home," starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Showing Friday and Saturday will be "Escape From Fort Bravo" starring William Holden, Eleanor Parker and John Forsythe.

The film tells of a Union outpost set up in the Arizona desert to defend the country's interest against the Mescaleros, at the same time serving as a prison for Confederate soldiers. The captain is deceived by Eleanor Parker who helps her Confederate sweetheart to escape. Capt. Roper relentlessly tracks down and recaptures them, but while returning to the fort they are ambushed by the Mescaleros.

Setting his captives free, Roper faces the savages alone. But Carla realizes that it is Roper she really loves and alerts the troops who rescue him.

Attorney in Cleveland Is Fined for Contempt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Probate Judge Walter T. Kinder fined an attorney $2,000 Wednesday after finding him guilty of contempt of court in handling an estate.

The attorney, Henry H. Pleasant, also was ordered to forfeit $235 he received in fees in serving as administrator for the estate of William A. Wright.

A court-appointed committee brought the litigation against Pleasant, claiming he acted improperly in serving both as the administrator and counsel for a heir to the estate.

For his service to the heir, Pleasant received $1,444, or 40 per cent of the estate.

One of tomorrow's business leaders will be at your front door today!

He's your newspaperboy, of course.

And the reason we predict the bright future for him that we do is because of the early start he's had.

He's a success already—and he's going to get better!

In this business of his, he buys his newspapers from us wholesale and in turn sells them to you retail.

He keeps his own records, learns how to handle money, appreciates the need for paying his bills promptly and maintaining his credit.

It didn't take him very long to learn the real meaning of service, to know how important dependability is, or the value of being on time. You see his profits depend on all these things and he's just as interested in profits as any businessman who ever lived.

He knows the value of a dollar, the satisfaction of a savings account, the thrill of being independent.

Today he's quite a boy. Tomorrow he'll be quite a man. And we're proud of him.

THE MARION STAR

P.S. . . . Every boy is entitled to the benefits of carrying a newspaper route. If he is willing to supply the ambition, we would like to supply the opportunity. If your son is interested, why not have him call us today 2-1101 regarding the availability of a route in your neighborhood.

Celebrate New Year With Confetti Pie

Delicious Holiday Pastry Has Coffee Flavored Chiffon Filling

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A confetti pie to serve as dessert for your New Year dinner! Such a light fluffy filling, such sweet and delicious flavor!

Start the New Year off right by making a flaky tender crust into which to put this coffee-butterscotch chiffon filling. If you happen to have one of the new frames for rolling out pie dough, use it as we direct in our recipe. If you have the other accompaniments that help make baking easy—a 1-cup and a 5-cup sifter, and a blending fork—use those, too, as we suggest, If you haven't yet acquired these handy aids just go ahead your own way!

Frame for Rolling Pastry Is Handy Baking Aid.

For New Year Dinner, Try Coffee-Butterscotch Filling.

CONFETTI PIE

Ingredients: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 eggs (separated), ½ cup strong coffee, 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup brown sugar (firmly packed), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon almond extract, 1 teaspoon vanilla, one 9-inch baked pie shell, whipped cream, ½ cup toasted slivered almonds.

Method: Sprinkle gelatin over water to soften. Beat egg yolks slightly in top of double boiler; mix in coffee, milk, salt and brown sugar. Cook over hot (not boiling) water until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add butter and softened gelatin;; stir until gelatin dissolves. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in 3 tablespoons sugar. Fold into gelatin mixture with almond extract and vanilla. Pile into pie shell. Chill until firm — about 3 hours. Top with whipped cream and almonds to give confetti effect.

PASTRY SHELLS

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup shortening, 4 tablespoons water.

Method: Scoop flour out of canister with 1-cup sifter, then sift into measuring cup. Place measured, sifted flour in 5-cup sifter. Add salt and sift into mixing bowl. Add half of shortening and cut in finely with blending fork until mixture resembles coarse meal. Cut in remaining shortening until particles are size of big peas. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon water at a time, mixing lightly with blending fork until all flour is moistened. Scrape dough from sides of bowl; gather together with fingers; press into ball. For two 1-crust pies, divide dough in half. Round up one part on frame for pastry into which flour has been rubbed. Flatten with hand. Using covered rolling pin, roll dough to slightly less than ⅛-inch thickness to edge of 9-inch circle. Work quickly, roll lightly. Keep rounding edge of pastry. Pinch any broken edges together. Fold pastry in half. Transfer quickly to pie pan. Unfold, pat and fit pastry down into pan. Avoid stretching. Trim edges. For a pretty fluted edge: Press a section of the pastry edge lightly between the thumb and forefinger of one hand with forefinger of other hand. Repeat evenly around edge.

Carter H. Harrison Dies at 93; Was Chicago's Mayor 5 Times

CHICAGO (AP)—Carter H. Harrison, 93, who was mayor of Chicago five terms and whose life was an integral part of the city's stormy history, died Christmas Day.

Harrison and his father—also Carter H. Harrison—governed Chicago for 22 of its first 72 years. The family believed this was a record unequaled anywhere in the country.

Harrison, a Democrat, also served as collector of internal revenue from 1933 until 1944, when he retired.

Harrison's father also was mayor five terms and in 1893 was assassinated by a political fanatic. Young Harrison then was boomed for mayor and among his followers were "Bathhouse John" Coughlin and "Hinkey Dink" Kenna, Chicago's former powerful 1st Ward aldermen for many years.

Harrison was nominated by the Democrats in 1897 and then literally cycled his way to election. This sport was very popular at the time and Harrison was one of its devotees. Lithographs appeared showing Harrison at the wheel, wearing a turtle-necked sweater and gripping a pair of "scorcher" handlebars. Buttons were worn proclaiming him "not the champion cyclist, but the cyclists' champion."

Harrison served four consecutive two-year terms beginning in 1897. He returned for a four-year term in 1911. He was 73 when President Roosevelt named him collector of internal revenue, after Harrison had campaigned for Roosevelt's election.

Born April 23, 1860, Harrison was a practicing attorney until 1891, when he became associated with his father in the purchase of the old Chicago Times. He assumed editorial direction of the newspaper. The family sold the Times in 1895.

Harrison's widow is the former Edith Ogden of New Orleans, whom he married 65 years ago. Mrs. Harrison, 91, survives, with a son, Carter Harison III, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Manierre, both of Suburban Lake Forest.

City Garbage Schedule

Garbage and refuse collections in Marion will be on regular schedule next week, Ralph Forrest, safety service director, said today.

The schedules this week were speeded up so that all collections could be completed Thursday afternoon an collection crews could have today off.

Collections next week will be made each day, including New Year's day, Forrest said.

DAYTON BUILDER DIES

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Joseph N. Haverstick, 78, founder and vice president of one of Dayton's largest residential building and development firms, died yesterday at his home here. He had served as assistant superintendent with the South Shore Railroad Lines at Chicago and had supervised Army installation construction at Nitro, W. Va. during World War I.

Price of Older Violins Jumps, Number Drops

Stradivarius Becomes Rarer With Passage Of Years, Accidents

CHICAGO (UP)—The value of the Stradivarius violin is increasing steadily, but you can't blame it on inflation.

The value of the 450 instruments remaining from the 1,000 that the master craftsman, Antonius Stradivarius, made 200 years ago, increases no matter what the world's economic condition.

Otto Leppert, violin appraiser for a majod violin dealer (Lyon & Healy), said a Stradivaius is like a fine work of art—"As time goes on, the value goes up."

Leppert's first during the past 55 years, has handled some 60 of the 200 rare instruments that are in good playing condition.

"Even during the depression the price of the Stradivarius stayed high," Leppert said.

'A few might have been sold for money for emergencies, but most of the violins are in the hands of experts. They won't sell because the instruments increase in value."

Purchases Increase

Leppert estimated that dealers today have for sale about 15 or so fine violins made during Stradivarius' "golden period" — from 1700 to 1730. Stralivarius died at 93 in 1737.

"There recently has been some increase in Stradivarius purchases for investment," Leppert said. But usuaHy people who buy a Stradivarius for investment have an interest in playing, though they may not be professionals.

"The instrument should be played to be taken care of properly."

Leppert gave as a reason for the increasing price of the famed violins the fact that through misuse or accident, more disappear from the market each year.

"There are some 15 to 20 violins from the golden period averaging about $45,000 each in the hands of dealers today," he said.

"A collettion was bombed out in Germany during the war and several Stradivari were lost. It will be just a question of time until very few are left in the hands of dealers and experts."

Value Rises

As an example of investment potential of the rare violins, Leppert cited the case of a Wisconsin violin collector. Over a period of 25 years, the man acquired five violins. He called the collection the "quintet of the masters.

It included the "Giese" Stradivarious cello of 1731, the "Ave Maria" made by Joseph Guarnerius del Jesu in 1740. the "Sovereign" viola fashioned by G. B. Guadagnini in 1773, the "King Henry IV" Amati brothers violin of 1595, and the "Simandle," an old Brescian bass of about 1730.

The collector bought the last instrument three years ago, Leppert said. Now the collection is worth more than three times what was paid for it.

Leppert said violinists such as Mischa Elman, Isaac Sterne and Zlatko Balokovic place high values of $1000,000 on their instruments because they feel that much money would be needed to find a replacement having the same tone and qualities.

"Some experts value Balokovic's violin, 'the Swan Stradivarius,' at $100,000 because it was the last violin Stradivarius made."

"It was his Swan song.'

Chimp Peppy After Gulping Cold Remedy

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Marko's cold remedy apparently did more for his feet than his head.

After the four-year-old chimpanzee finished a show last night, his owner, Lew Henderson, put Marko in his cage in the alley and closed the door. But he forgot to lock it.

Henderson returned backstage to help gather up the props that he and his two children use in their act.

When they returned to the alley, Marko's cage was empty—and so were a bottle of vitamin B1 complex and half a bottle of cough syrup.

The Hendersons notified police, started searching, found the chimp perched on a nearby ledge, called off the cops, and received a grateful sergeant's, "thank the Lord!"

When Henderson was asked to explain how it had happened, he removed the padlock from Marko's cage. At that point, he was asked to pull his truck away from the rear wall of the auditorium so a photographer could squeeze in to make a picture.

Henderson walked around the truck to oblige, his two children went back inside the building—and Marko took off again.

This time he was corraled halfway up the stairs of an apartment house.

"I'm going to have a mighty sick chimp on my hands," said Henderson afterwards. "They get pneumonia awful easy in this weather."

GOP in Jackson County Urges Rhodes To Run

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Republican committee of Jackson County today added its voice to a call for State Auditor James A. Rhodes to run for governor.

"A ground swell of genuine enthusiasm is growing for your candidacy," said a telegram from Committee Chairman Fred Rice to Rhodes, a native of the county.

MEDICAMENT

CINCINNATI (AP)—Willie Gibson, 40, an arthritis sufferer, may be looking for a new cure. His old one caused him much difficulty yesterday. His mixture of gasoline and mothballs started a fire in his apartment and forced six others in the building out on the street. He wasn't hurt, though a passerby, Samuel Swain, 22, fell on the ice in front of the Gibson apartment and bruised his head.

Texas Prosperity Is Also King-Size

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Texans have evidence that the nation's largest state is a land of prosperity.

While retail sales jumped 290 per cent nationally during the 13-year period from pre-war 1939 to post-war 1952, Texas showed a much larger gain of 429 per cent.

Figures cited by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research showed Texans also had more "disposable" personal income during that period than their fellow citizens in other states.

"Disposable" personal income in Texas was 320 per cent last year above the 1939 level, while the increase nationally was 235 per cent.

Even after taking dollar inflation into account, the research bureau said, the average Texas consumer had almost two and one-fifth times more purchasing power last year than 13 years ago.

SOLE FACTORY PURCHASED

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The Williams Mfg. Co. of Portsmouth, a shoe factory, has purchased the Mid-Continent Rubber Co. of Grove City, a producer of synthetic rubber soles for shoes. No purchase price was announced. Mid-Continent has been in operation about three years and employs about 20 persons.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

Scientists in Show Biz

When "Adventure," the Museum of Natural History show, (CBS-TV, 4:30 p.m. Sundays) first started last year, the television technicians and the museum scientists viewed each other, if not quite with hostility, at least with little mutual comprehension. The two sets of people—the one from Madison avenue, the other from West 79th street—spoke different languages as far removed as the Hittites from the Eskimos.

J. CROSBY

The situation didn't last long. Before many moons had waxed and waned, the boys with the cables and the cameras were talking knowingly of brontosauri. And the scientists were learnedly talking about dissolves, backlighting and camera angles.

The TV lads even began to appreciate the scientists's jokes. Not that the scientific jokes were particularly hard to understand but the scientific delivery was rather different from that of Madison avenue. The archeologists like to throw away the punch line in a deprecatory way. The Madison avenue technique is much more assertive; a punch line is meant to be punched.

BOTH GROUPS of people, in short, have learned a lot by associating with one another. It's been a thoroughly happy mating of wildly conflicting cultures and it just goes to show that if we all got around a little more, we'd be better balanced and there'd probably be no more wars and maybe not even any serious arguments.

All of which is a thoroughly devious way to get into the fact that "Adventure," after a few preliminary stains and stresses — in the period before the scientists understood dissolves and the cameramen could distinguish one fossil from another — has settled down into a thoroughly enjoyable and professional program.

LAST SUNDAY, the show revolved around "Annapurna" which is the name of a Tibetan mountain peak, and more recently of a book, and even more recently of a motion picture.

Maurice Herzog, the Frenchman who conquered the 26,000 - foot peak in the Himalayas and lost all his fingers and toes in the process, was on hand to answer the everlasting riddle: "Why do people climb mountains?" He was asked among other things if Annapurna, considering the frightful price he had to pay, was worth the trouble and his answer was as splendid and glowing and moving an affirmation as I've ever heard.

There were wonderful films of the ascent showing the snowy wastes and isolation and loneliness and emptiness and menace of 26,000 - foot mountain peaks. Charles Collingwood was a very suave emcee, but I sometimes wish the people who write the narration over there were a little more restrained.

ORDINANCE NO. 5675
PROHIBITING THE LEAVING OF UNATTENDED ICE BOXES AND REFRIGERATORS ACCESSIBLE TO CHILDREN, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY

WHEREAS, an emergency exists in the City of Marion in that instances have been reported in other cities of deaths due to suffocation of children in abandoned, unattended ice boxes, refrigerators and other containers having air-tight doors which, when closed, cannot be opened from the inside; and

WHEREAS these abandoned, unattended or discarded ice boxes or refrigerators and other containers are a constant menace to the health, welfare and safety of children in the City of Marion;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY the Council of the City of Marion:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to leave outside of any building or dwelling in a place accessible to children, any abandoned, unattended or discarded ice box, refrigerator or other container of any kind which has an air-tight door or lock which may not be released for opening from the inside of the said ice box, refrigerator or container.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to leave outside of any building or dwelling in a place accessible to children any abandoned, unattended or discarded ice box, refrigerator or any other container of any kind which has an air-tight door and snap lock or other device thereon, without first removing the said snap lock or doors from said ice box, refrigerator or container.

Section 3. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding $50.00. Each day such violation is committed or permitted to continue shall constitute a separate offense and shall be punishable as such hereunder.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed: December 14, 1953
WM. G. SLACK,
President of Council
Approved: December 15, 1953
Harold F. Robinson, Mayor
Attest: Mayme Gorton
Dec. 19,26,1953.

A GOOD MAN IS HARD TO FIND
. . . that is why we are willing to make this unusual offer for the right salesman to fill our vacancy in the Marion area.
Frankly, the type of man we want is worth from $14,000 to $25,000 in a year . . . and he deserves every dollar he gets—and more.
The kind of man we are looking for is:
1. Over 40 years old, neat, conscientious.
2. With at least 10 years selling experience.
3. Owns a car and can travel for a week at a time.

Our top men in 82 other cities all over the country are making from $14,000 to $33,000 in a year. In the last ten years many of these men have cleared over $150,000 each.

Our pay checks are mailed weekly and in advance; we take care of all deliveries, collections and service.

If you are really serious about making good in a new field, then you are invited to write a letter to me personally, telling about yourself and your experience. All replies confidential. President, Dept. R, Box 711, Fort Worth 1, Texas.

ADMINISTRATRIX SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Pursuant to an order of the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, I will offer for sale at public auction on the 2nd day of January, 1954, at 10:00 A.M. at the premises located at North High St., in the Village of Caledonia, Ohio, the following described real estate: Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio and in the Village of Caledonia and bounded and described as follows:

Known as being lot number one hundred ninety-four (194) in Crissinger's Second Addition to the Village of Caledonia, Ohio, being the same real estate as was originally known as lot number two (2) in Crissinger's Second Addition, renumbered as lot number one hundred ninety-four (194) in the proceedings for renumbering of lots in the said Village of Caledonia, Ohio, as more fully shown by plat book No. 3, at Page 145 et seq. in the Recorder's Office of Marion County, Ohio.

Said premises being improved with a six room, frame house and garage.

Said premises are appraised at $5,500.00 and must be sold for not less than two-thirds (2/3) of said appraised value and the terms of sale are ten per cent (10%) cash on day of sale and the balance upon delivery of the deed.

Case No. 20102.
Ettie Delle Kightlinger, Administratrix of the Estate of Quinn Kightlinger, deceased.
Paul G. Simpson, Attorney for the Administratrix.
Dec. 5,12,19,26,1953.

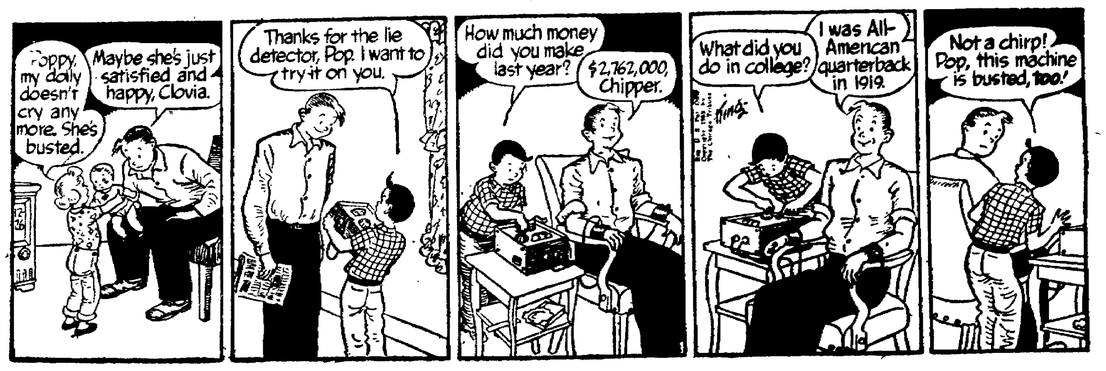
JOE PALOOKA By Ham Fisher

WE GOTTA KEEP YA IN TRAININ'...WOT WAS THAT...YA SNEEZED... OHMIGOSH...
NO I DIDN'T.
I DID! I'M KETCHIN' A COLT!
KEEP AWAY FROM JOE, YA JERK... HE MIGHT KETCH IT... GIT IN YER ROOM!
AWRI... AWRI... I DON'T MATTER, PHOOEY!
I HOPE MY FAMILY ISN'T TOO WORRIED.
KNOCK KNOCK
W-WOT... I... I...G-GOT A FEVER... I...I'M D'LEERIUSS!

GASOLINE ALLEY By Frank King



Poppy, my doll doesn't cry any more. She's busted.
Maybe she's just satisfied and happy, Clovia.
Thanks for the lie detector, Pop. I want to try it on you.
How much money did you make last year?
$2,762,000, Chipper.
What did you do in college?
I was All-American quarterback in 1919.
Not a chirp! Pop, this machine is busted, too!
